RENEWAL OF RIOTING FOLLOWS INDECISIVE GERMAN BALLOTTING

Chancellor Von Papen Declares Against Coalition Government and Will Test Strength Before Reichstag—Hitler's Nazis Make Heavy Gains but Fail to Obtain Majority

BERLIN, Aug. 1 (AP).—Renewed political riots, in which four persons were killed and many others injured, and a declaration against coalition government by Chancellor Franz von Papen, were today's aftermaths of yesterday's Reichstag election in which no party or group of parties succeeded in winning a majority.

Interpreting the balloting as endorsement by the people of the present administration's effort "to rid the country of party control," the Chancellor said he would defy the new Reichstag to oust him and his ministers.

ARE WATCHING HITLER

His statement came as all Germany was waiting for Adolf Hitler, whose bid for absolute power was spurned by the voters, to decide whether he would attempt coalition or would fight the Von Papen ministry.

Political speculation was stirred by a widespread report that before the election the fiery leader of German fascism gave a pledge to President von Hindenberg and the Cabinet that he would enter a Government coalition if he failed to win a majority of the Reichstag seats.

MUST SWALLOW MEDICINE

The Munich Post said it had learned definitely such a pledge had been made. Despite the passionate cry of "no coalition" by some Nazi leaders, they will have to swallow the medicine against which they have been violently objecting.

Every indication is that the Cabinet is remaining aloof from party bickerings about the pros and cons of coalition Government.

The ministers have planned to take a week's vacation preparatory to convening the Reichstag late in August.

At the beginning of the session the Government will present its programme, and probably will put the question of coalition Government squarely before the members.

HOLD BALANCE OF POWER

In the new Reichstag the balance of power is held by the centrists and the allies of the Bavarian people's party, who have ninety-seven seats in a total of 607. Yes-

PLAN TO HOLD DEMONSTRATION

"Workers" to Lay Demands Before Premier Bennett —Police Prepared

OTTAWA, Aug. 1 (CP).—Canada's miniature bonus army made plans tonight for a "workers'" demonstration tomorrow while a small deputation interviews Premier R. B. Bennett and lays before him a long series of demands. Seven hundred delegates to the workers' economic conference today passed resolutions urging noncontributory unemployment insurance, shorter working days, cessation of "police terror," and exemption of "all pool farmers" from taxes, debt and rent payments. Advance notices said there would be several thousand delegates present.

All leave was canceled on the Ottawa police force in anticipation of the demonstration tomorrow. The city council turned down an application for the use of the Market Square, but at the deserted garage—convention headquarters—it was said the square would be used.

HEAR FIERY SPEECHES

The convention opened today with delegates present from Halifax to Vancouver. The old garage building echoed to such terms as "Sovietized Canada," the "crisis that will come," "proletariat dictatorship" and "Imperial bandits," as speaker after speaker harrangued the crowd. The most fiery speeches were made by women delegates, of whom there were scores present. Like the men, some of them arrived in Ottawa by sidedoor Pullmans and by riding the bars of freight cars.

Premier Bennett will receive the delegation tomorrow if it is shown they are not Communists. An interview was arranged for 2 p.m., in his office in the East Block.

SEEKS CONGRESS PROBE OF FIGHT

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—A statement that he would seek a Congressional investigation in December of the bonus army eviction from Washington by Federal troops was made today by Senator McKellar, Democrat, Tennessee, after a District of Columbia grand jury began an inquiry of Thursday's disorders in response to a demand by President Hoover.

McKellar, who held the routing of the bonus-seeker and the firing of their huts by cavalry and infantry was "an act of vandalism," said a Congressional inquiry should be made to find out the facts.

BIG LOSS IN SUNDAY FIRE

Damage Estimated $100,000 in Nanaimo's Main Business District

NANAIMO, Aug. 1.—Fire estimated at a loss of $100,000, razed the main business section on Commercial Street here shortly after 1 o'clock on Sunday afternoon.

The fire blazed for three hours before it was brought under control. It originated at the back of Mrs. Lily Malaharis' Fashion Shop. Fire Chief Parkin, facing a wall of fire upon entering the building, and from that moment on the brigade had a hard fight on their hands to bring the flames under control. The fire quickly spread to the Yale Shoe Store and Jack Good's Furniture Store. The stocks of the Fashion Shoppe and Yale Shoe Store were a total loss, while Jack Good's furniture was practically destroyed and considerable damage was done to the stocks of Powers Doyle & Berry Ltd., men's furnishings, and Nanaimo Hatters, owned by Alex Gusola.

A TOTAL LOSS

The five business firms were housed in three buildings owned by Alex Gusola, Powers Doyle & Berry, Ltd., and John Malaharis. The three buildings are a total loss, and according to local building by-laws, cannot be replaced unless by modern structures.

The three buildings are estimated to be worth some $40,000. The Yale store carried no insurance, the Fashion Shoppe carried a stock of some $5,000, but the amount of insurance carried will not cover the loss, while J. H. Good carried a stock valued at between forty and fifty thousand dollars. Insurance will not cover the loss.

CALCUTTA, Aug. 1 (AP). — A ferryboat carrying 250 laborers across a flooded river near Noakhali, in Eastern Bengal, capsized last night, drowning many of the passengers.

As Kaye Don Shattered Speedboat Mark

City Takes Steps To Foreclose on Elevator Company

ON the recommendation of the finance committee, the City Council last night instructed City Solicitor H. S. Pringle to take the necessary steps to foreclose on the Panama Pacific Grain Terminals Ltd.

It was explained that the company already was in arrears of payments amounting to $26,000 and that the city would have to act quickly if it wished to lease the elevator before this year's grain movement got under way.

It is expected that some arrangement might be made with the Alberta Wheat Pool for the leasing of the elevator for another season at $26,000.

Dominion to Pay Two Million Upon B.C. Relief Work

Premier Tolmie Notifies Cabinet of Federal Order Releasing Large Sum in Respect to 1931 Unemployment Accounts—Action Eases Tension for Province Facing Fresh Outlays

AUTHORIZING the largest single payment that will have passed between the Dominion and Provincial Governments on unemployment relief affairs, the Federal Government passed an order-in-council yesterday for $2,000,000 on account of relief expenditures incurred within British Columbia in 1931.

Acting Premier Pooley received a direct wire from Premier Tolmie to this effect, which will be followed by formal advices from the Federal Government in due course.

Until the Provincial Government is actually in receipt of the formal notification, Mr. Pooley explained, precisely what accounts are covered by the intended payment of the $2,000,000 to this Province will not be known in detail. The Premier's message to Mr. Pooley said that the sum was for 1931 relief accounts and for other relief under the 1931 Act, within the province. Actual details must first be learned before the effect of the settlement can be fully realized.

WILL AID FINANCING

The Provincial authorities recently passed forward to Ottawa the whole of the outstanding relief certificates for 1931, based on Provincial vouchers for work already done. The amount of the certificates, with some incidental balances on other accounts, was stated at the time to be approximately $2,400,000. Whether it is to apply on this or other accounts, the $2,000,000 will bring a needed measure of relief to Provincial financing of unemployment aid costs.

The news was received as additional evidence of Premier Tolmie's continued pressure for settlement of unemployment relief affairs between the two governments, and as most welcome intelligence on its own account.

Weapons for Police Force Are Ordered

An extraordinary expenditure of $1,200 for the police department was authorized by the City Council at its meeting last night. This money will be used for the purchase of new revolvers, several automatic shotguns, bulletproof glass for the prowler cars, and sirens.

Chief of Police Thomas Heatley, in urging their purchase upon the police commission, stated that they were necessary for the campaign against crooks who might invade Victoria from Vancouver.

War Threatening as Nations Arm to End Ancient Difference

Paraguay Mobilizing Forces While Bolivian Government Declares Intention to Resort to Force if Necessary in Dispute Over Territory

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP).—War clouds darkened last night over the territory in the Chaco, triangular jungle claimed by both Bolivia and Paraguay, which has embroiled the two nations in a bitter dispute. Mobilization of all the forces of Paraguay was authorized by the Congress of that country and the Government prepared to call army and navy reserves to arms.

At the same time the Bolivian Government declared its determination to settle the dispute finally, but by force if necessary.

REJECT PROPOSALS

Bolivia rejected neutral proposals for an investigation of clashes with Paraguay in Chaco since June 15, which brought about the present hostilities.

Paraguay laid the controversy before the League of Nations in a note to the League Council, charging Bolivia with having violated Articles 10 and 11 of the League Covenant by attacking Paraguayan forts. These articles bind members of the league, which include Bolivia and Paraguay, to respect the territorial integrity of each other and provide for league consideration of war or threat of war.

WATCHING AT GENEVA

League officials at Geneva are watching the developments closely, but have taken no action beyond sending a note to each country taking cognizance of the situation and alluding to the conciliatory endeavors of neutral nations.

A Buenos Aires newspaper said it understood from a diplomatic source that Argentina had proposed that it, Brazil, Chile and Peru adopt a resolution agreeing not to recognize any modification of the Bolivian or Paraguayan frontier nor "the acquisition of territory which is the fruit of war."

HON. J. F. ORDE IS CALLED BY DEATH

Ontario Judge Passes Away at Toronto—Headed Inquiry in Hydro Affairs

TORONTO, Aug. 1 (CP).—Hon. John Fosberry Orde, Justice of the Court of Appeal in the Supreme Court of Ontario, died tonight. His Lordship had been ill for more than a month at his home here.

The arduous duties of Royal Commissioner inquiring into various affairs of the Ontario Hydro Commission were undertaken by Mr. Justice Orde last March when Mr. Justice Middleton retired from the inquiry owing to illness. At the closing sessions of his commission in June here Justice Orde first stated his health was failing.

At the time of his death His Lordship had not submitted a report to the Provincial Government with his findings on the propriety of the $50,000 payment made to John Aird, Jr., in connection with the Madawaska purchase; the $125,000 payment by the same man by the Beauharnois Corporation and the acquisition by the Hydro Commission of the Dominion Power & Transportation Company, of Hamilton,

NEW INDUSTRY MAKES OFFER

Paramount Motion Picture Co. Will Be Asked for Full Particulars

Negotiations entered into by the British Columbia Agricultural Association for the establishment of a motion picture studio in the Manufacturers' Building at the Willows was endorsed in principle by the City Council at its meeting last night.

Ratification of the lease was withheld until additional information could be obtained regarding the proposal. Alderman James Adam, who acted as chairman at last night's meeting, and City Solicitor H. S. Pringle were appointed a committee to inquire by telegraph of the Paramount motion picture company whether they proposed to establish a motion picture studio here.

SPONSORS NEGOTIATIONS

Kenneth J. Bishop, whose name was mentioned in the draft of the lease, was represented as an agent of the Paramount interests by Alderman H. O. Litchfield, who sponsored the negotiations.

Alderman Litchfield said that Mr. Bishop had approached the industrial committee of the City Council with an agreement with the Paramount picture company undertaking to produce a number of pictures, the first of which would be "The Golden West."

The alderman said that those behind the project were all native-

FORMER LEADER IN SENATE DIES

Hon. W. B. Willoughby Passed Away at Moose Jaw—Widely Known

MOOSE JAW, Sask., Aug. 1 (CP). —Senator W. B. Willoughby, former Conservative leader in the Senate, died in hospital here, tonight, at the age of seventy-three years. Cancer of the throat, from which he suffered for several months, was the cause of death.

The funeral has been fixed for Thursday afternoon.

The late Senator Willoughby was born in Peel County, Ontario, on July 10, 1869.

In 1892 he was married to Susan Smedley Jones, of Philadelphia.

MOVED WEST IN 1897

Mr. Willoughby's early life was spent in Peel and Dufferin Counties and later in Toronto, until 1897, when he came west to Moose Jaw. This city was his home from that date onward.

He graduated from the University of Toronto, in 1883, with honors in languages. In 1887 he received his LL.B. degree.

Admitted to the Bar of Ontario in 1886, he practised in Toronto until he came west and engaged in general practice. He was Conservative leader in the Upper House at Ottawa until a few months ago, when ill health forced him to resign.

ELECTED TO LEGISLATURE

Mr. Willoughby was elected to the Saskatchewan Legislature in 1912, and again in 1917, and was appointed leader of the Conservative party on the resignation of Sir Frederick Haultain, who was appointed to the Court of Appeal. Later in the same year, Mr. Willoughby was appointed to the Canadian Senate. In 1924 he was a member of the Empire Parliamentary Party to South Africa, and in 1925 was a delegate to the Interparliamentary Union.

DECLARES ITALY BADLY TRICKED

ROME, Aug. 1 (AP).—Italo Balbo, who was Italy's delegate at the closing session of the World Disarmament Conference, said today, in an interview with the newspaper Popolo d'Italia, that the world has had a "general impression of inconclusiveness," from the deliberations of that conference.

"Also," he said, "there was an attempt to make an atrocious joke at Geneva, and I saw, without any beating about the bush, that the ones who would have been tricked most of all are the Italians."

He charged that every decision the conference made "was for the group trade mark of France, England and America." He complained neither the Italians, the Germans nor the Russians figured in any of the high offices,

CANADIAN AND IRISH ATHLETES WIN HONOR FOR BRITISH EMPIRE

Robert Tisdall, for Dublin, Lifts Lord Burghley's Olympic Hurdles Title, Failing to Break Record Through Hitting Hurdle—Hilda Strike, Montreal, Wins 100-Metre Semi-Final

Patrick O'Callaghan Wins Hammer Throw With Ease

OLYMPIC STADIUM, Cal., Aug. 1 (CP).—Canada and the fighting Irish came to the rescue of the British Empire on the second day of the Olympic Games track and field festival here today, snatching a major share of the victory after two of the Commonwealth's greatest champions had been defeated.

Running after an absence of two years from competition, Percy Williams, of Vancouver, fell by the wayside in the semi-finals of the 100-metre dash, and sat on the sidelines to watch America's sensational negro star, little Eddie Tolan, of Michigan, win for United States the first of two sprint titles Williams sought to defend.

HOPES ELIMINATED

A few minutes after the one-time Vancouver flyer had been conquered, the Dominion's other sprint hopes, Young Bert Pearson, of Hamilton, and Harold Wright, of Edmonton, were eliminated in the other century semi-final. And to cap British disappointment, Lord David Burghley, English prince of the world's hurdlers, failed in a gallant attempt to retain his 400-metre hurdles title.

The Irish contributions to the Empire's success today were twin victories in the hammer throw and 400-metre hurdles—giving the British Commonwealth a trio of first places, including the high jump of Duncan McNaughton, of Vancouver. As Canada's sprinting hopes were dimmed by successive eliminations, Hilda Strike, slim Montreal speedster, kept the Dominion in the running by qualifying for the women's 100-metre final tomorrow.

GO DOWN FIGHTING

As lion-hearted champions as historic Olympiads ever produced, Williams and Burghley went down fighting. Both smiled at defeat, both paid tribute to fleeter men honored for the first time as Olympic champions, and Burghley smiled the broader because his Irish friend, Robert Tisdall, of Dublin, one of the best hurdlers Cambridge University has developed in recent years, succeeded him to the throne.

Tisdall mowed down as fine a lot of timber-toppers as ever assembled for an international test, defeating besides Burghley, F. Morgan Taylor, of the United States holder of the world record. In addition he smashed Taylor's record by one-fifth of a second, broke the Olympic mark by more than a full second and then was advised he could not be credited

Says Canada and Free State Near Trade Agreement

TORONTO, Aug. 1.—A special dispatch from Ottawa to The Toronto Globe says:

"Canada and the Irish Free State are said to be nearing agreement upon a potential new trade treaty.

"The Canadian-Free State discussions at the moment centre upon guaranteed purchase by the Irish Free State Government annually of the bulk of the Free State's wheat requirements in return for Canadian trade preferences in respect of woolen and linen cloth."

FLOOD TAKES HEAVY TOLL

Swollen Canton River Destroying Life and Property—Cholera Raging

CANTON, Aug. 1 (AP).—The scourges of flood and cholera lashed at three sections of China today, taking a heavy toll of lives and property.

The rampaging Chu Klang (Canton River), whose tributaries have been filled to overflowing by torrential rains, has demolished 600 houses and drowned 500 persons at Canton proper.

The houses started collapsing Saturday. One was a home for the aged, in which eighty old persons perished. Thousands were homeless.

In Western Shensi Province the Yellow River had battered down its dykes, inundating thirty towns and leaving 50,000 persons homeless.

DAMAGE TO CROPS

Up North in Manchuria, torrential rains and floods, centring around Kailiang, have done tens of millions of dollars' worth of damage, and there were reports a food shortage for the Winter had been threatened as a result of high-water damage to grain crops.

So serious was the spread of cholera in Western Honan Province that authorities have appealed to Nanking for medical help. The city of Honanfu's death rate was mounting alarmingly.

In Southwest Hupeh, according to Hankow dispatches, the cholera scourge was widespread, and bubonic plague was also taking a heavy toll in lives. There was also a heat wave.

Canadian Girl Wins Sprint Semi-Final

MISS HILDA STRIKE

Montreal sprinter, won her semi-final in the women's 100-metre event of the Olympic Games yesterday. Miss Stella Walsh, of Poland, won the other semi-final. The final will be run today.

Three Killed in Seaplane Crash

STE. ROSE, Que., Aug. 1 (CP).—A converted hydroplane, flying low over the Jesus River as if about to land, suddenly plunged and dug its nose into the mud of the river bed near here Sunday night, carrying its three occupants to death from drowning.

Andrew Darling, thirty-three, owner and pilot of the machine, and his two employees, John Maguire, twenty, and Georges Brossard, nineteen, lost their lives, their bodies being recovered by young men who dived to force open the cabin door.

Canada Ready With Real Preference as Offer to Motherland

Special Attention Devoted by Committee to Tariff Items Interesting British Exporter—Hardest Task Now Facing Empire Conference

By GEORGE HAMBLETON

OTTAWA, Aug. 1 (CP).—Canada has practically completed her quid pro quo for the Empire Conference. Through the holiday week-end, a Cabinet subcommittee under the chairmanship of Hon. E. N. Rhodes, Minister of Finance, has gone through the Canadian tariff, devoting special attention to those items in which the British exporter is specially interested.

"It will be a real preference," was the comment tonight of one close to the Government.

THE REAL TASK

Tomorrow, delegates and advisers, fresh from their fishing expeditions at Lucerne and Thirty-One-Mile Lake, face the real task of the conference. By reason of its procedure, the conference has in a sense divided into two camps—in one, the Dominions meeting together to formulate their needs in the British market; in the other, Britain equally preparing her case.

The problem is to harmonize the two positions.

The Dominions want new or additional preferences on wheat, meats, dairy products, lumber, copper and other metals. In some cases, they want the preferences buttressed by quota to forestall the possibility of foreign dumping. Their recommendations on butter and meats were considered today by a committee of experts and will later go to the main committee on promotion of Commonwealth trade.

BRITAIN'S CHIEF NEEDS

Britain, with her great army of unemployed, wants work for her idle textile factories, her iron and steel, leather goods, machinery, chemicals, electric supplies. She wants reductions in the tariffs now imposed by the Dominions on British goods. Her argument is that a preferential rate is not of much

FIREMEN KILLED BY EXPLOSIONS

Five Lose Lives When Fighting Blaze in Basement of New York Hotel

NEW YORK, Aug. 1 (AP).—Five firemen lost their lives today in two terrific explosions that trapped them as they fought a blaze in the subbasement of the fashionable Ritz-Tower Hotel, which rises forty-stories above Park Avenue on Fifty-Second Street.

A sixth fireman was reported dying, and twenty-six other persons, ten of them civilians, suffered injuries of various degree.

The explosion occurred in the paint shop, three stories below the street, while firemen were fighting a basement fire.

The whole front was smashed in, two clerks were severely cut by flying glass, and more than $100,000 in gems strewn in the street.

The explosion cut off all power in the hotel and elevator service stopped. Guests were not allowed to leave and only the police could enter.

CLAIMS APPEAR NOT JUSTIFIED

Commissioner Refuses to Condone Actions of Senator Logan

OTTAWA, Aug. 11 (CP). — The report of Chief Justice Horace Harvey of Alberta refuses to condone actions of Senator Hance J. Logan, Amherst, N.S., and Capt. Freeman Hatfield in the Gypsum Queen case, it was learned on high authority today. Findings of the commissioner will go before the Cabinet Council.

An amount of $71,000 was paid in March, 1931, by the Dominion Government to Captain Hatfield, owner of the three-masted Nova Scotia schooner, on representations that the vessel had been torpedoed at sea. Senator Logan acted for Captain Hatfield before Reparation Commissioner Errol L. McDonald, Montreal.

INVESTIGATION ORDERED

Following payment of the claim, certain facts came to light tending to show that the schooner had been lost at sea and not destroyed, as alleged, by enemy action. An order-in-council was then passed by the Dominion Government appointing Chief Justice Harvey to conduct an inquiry into the whole circumstances of the case.

Hearings were started by Chief Justice Harvey early this year. Evidence was taken by the commissioner in Nova Scotia, New York City, Ottawa and about six weeks ago in London, England.

EIGHT INJURED BY EXPLOSION

MONTPELIER, Vt., Aug. 1 (AP). —Eight persons were in hospitals tonight, one in a serious condition, following the explosion of 8,000 pounds of dynamite at a stone-owned powder house between here and Barre.

Scores of windows were shattered by the explosion and an audience in a nearby motion picture house was thrown into a near panic.

BULL AND SON SENDING HERD TO EXHIBITION

Biggest Importer-Breeder of Jersey Cattle Makes Important Entry

COMPETITION KEEN SECRETARY STATES

The biggest importer and breeder of Jersey cattle on the North American Continent will be represented at the annual fair of the British Columbia Agricultural Association to be held at the Willows from August 22 to 27, it was announced yesterday by W. H. Mearns, secretary of the association.

Plenty of competition will be provided even for this outstanding entry, however. No less than twenty important strings of cattle have been entered and others are coming in daily.

B. H. Bull & Son, of Brampton, Ont., will send thirty head of Jersey cattle and a three-year-old imported Jersey bull. It is this farm that holds the record on this continent of having the finest Jersey herd.

HAS LARGE HERD

The entry from Brampton will be one of the outstanding features of the cattle show, for the cattle are being selected from a herd of 600 thoroughbreds. This entry is an entirely new one, being the first time that the Ontario breeders will have exhibited here.

Another interesting entry announced was that of William Gibb, of Killian, Alta. He is bringing a large entry of Aberdeen-Angus cattle. This also is an entirely new entry, as is the Jersey cattle entry of R. Wattie, of Heather Bank Farm, Cobble Hill.

Several new entries in the six-horse team class for the horse show also are announced. They are as follows: A. C. Ruby, Portland, Ore.; D. F. Burge, Albany, Ore.; and Mainland Transfer Co., of Vancouver.

OTHER ENTRIES

Other cattle and horse entries for the fair are as follows: H. E. Burbidge, Royal Oak; A. E. Dunvill, Sardis, B.C.; E. A. Gamble, Chilliwack; Charles Hawthorne, Chilliwack; J. H. Higginson & Sons, Sardis; Duncan Montgomery, Ladner; G. B. Reade, Sardis; Shannon Bros., Cloverdale; Charles Turner, Kilgard, B.C.; E. A. Wells & Son, Sardis; Canadian Pacific Railway Farm, Calgary; Colony Farm at Essondale; Captain Watson, Sidney; Captain Gibson, Sidney; H. Thompson, Fairlight, Sask.; Charles Yule, Carstairs, Alta.; Dr. Marr, Langley, B.C.; and Cowichan Riding Club.

Slipped on Rocks And Lost His Life

WINNIPEG, Aug. 1.—Slipping on rocks skirting the Winnipeg River at Great Falls brought death to Albert Messenger, forty-nine, of Winnipeg, as he was fishing Saturday. He plunged into the river and drowned while his son and two friends looked on.

with the marks because he had knocked down a hurdle.

Glenn Hardin, of the United States, was second to Tisdall, Taylor third and Burghley a close fourth. The flaxen-haired peer battled grimly every inch of the way and at one time seemed headed for victory, but he could not match the final drive that the Irishman uncorked and was caught at the last hurdle by Hardin and Taylor.

SECOND TRIUMPH

Ireland's second triumph was scored by Dr. Patrick O'Callaghan, who brought a crowd of 50,000 to its feet with a final hammer throw of 176 feet 11-8 inches, to beat by more than four feet the best toss of Ville Porhola, Finland, who had led from his first throw.

It was late in the afternoon before slender Miss Strike, Montreal, brought Canada prominently into the Olympic picture. Third in her first 100-metre heat, Miss Strike shot to a brilliant victory in the first semi-final, getting the call over Marie Dollinger, of Germany, and Elizabeth Wilde, of the United States, in a blanket finish.

Miss Dollinger just failed to catch the Canadian girl at the tape as Miss Strike pulled up, having easily qualified. The three qualifiers were so closely bunched it was announced the judges would view a motion picture of the finish to decide finally the placings.

A NEW RECORD

In the other women's sprint semi-final, Mary Frizzell, of Vancouver, and Mary Vandervleit, of New Liskeard, Ontario, were eliminated, finishing out of the first three. Miss Vandervleit fourth and Miss Frizzell fifth. Stella Walsh, Polish-American star competing for Poland, set a new Olympic record in winning this heat in 11 9-10 seconds. She ran her first heat in the same time.

Wilhelmina Von Bremen, United States, and Eileen Hiscock, Great Britain, qualified behind Miss Walsh for the final, scheduled to be run tomorrow.

The male sprint trio of Canada, sent out to defend Williams' 100-metre crown, was outclassed in the semi-final heats as the colored team of Eddie Tolan and Ralph Metcalfe uncorked more speed than the field could cope with. The American negroes finished two inches apart. Arthur Jonath, Germany, was a good third, and George Simpson, United States, fourth.

WORLD'S BEST TIME

Tolan's time, 10 3-10 seconds, equaled Percy Williams' world record, set in Toronto in 1930, and approved by the International Athletic Federation just a few days ago. It bettered the Olympic record of 10 3-5 seconds, jointly held by Williams and four others.

Percy went out by inches in his semi-final, Takayoshi Soshioka, of Japan, snatching the third qualifying berth behind Tolan and Daniel Joubert, South African speedster. Williams put on his spurt at the fifty-metre mark and it was almost enough to get him in. Allan Elliot, New Zealand, and Helmut Korenig, Germany, were behind Williams.

Pearson and Wright were not even close in the other semi-final, won by Metcalfe. Pearson was fifth and Wright last, neither being able to keep pace with Simpson, Jonath and C. B. Luti, of Argentina, who finished in that order behind the giant Marquette University negro.

GIRLS DO WELL

Canadian girls got through preliminary heats in fine style, Miss Strike actually having the toughest battle. She was third to Miss Dollinger and Miss Von Bremen. Miss Frizzell took second place in her heat, Stella Walsh winning, and Miss Vandervleit was a good second in the third heat to Tollina Schuurman, Holland. But the pace in the third heat was too hot for Miss Frizzell and Miss Vandervleit. As Miss Walsh burned up the track in world record-equaling time, Miss Von Bremen and Miss Hiscock slipped past the Canadians, who were fourth and fifth—out of the qualifying places.

STIFF COMPETITION

Harold Gallup, Toronto distance runner, bumped into stiffer competition than he was able to stand up to in the second heat of the 3,000-metre steeplechase. The Ontario runner dropped out of the race shortly after the halfway mark had been reached. Votmartiso Hollo of Finland, won the heat in 9:14 3-5, breaking the Olympic record.

The final in the 800 metres is to be run tomorrow, all nine runners who qualified yesterday running. Semi-finals were to have been run off today but the entry list was small enough to eliminate the additional heats. Alex Wilson, of Montreal, and Phil Edwards, of Hamilton, are both considered dangerous in the event. They qualified with ease.

Summaries of today's events follow:

100-metre run (109.3 yards), semi-finals, qualifying three each for finals.

100 metres (semi-final). First heat—Won by Eddie Tolan, U.S.A. (1 foot); 2, Daniel Joubert, South Africa (6 inches); 3, Takayoshi Yoshioka, Japan (1 foot); 4, Percy Williams, Canada (1 foot); 5, Allan Elliot, New Zealand (6 inches); 6, Helmuth Koernig, Germany. Time—10.7 seconds.

Second heat—Won by Ralph Metcalfe, U.S.A. (1 foot); 2, George Simpson, U.S.A. (6 inches); 3, Arthur Jonath, Germany (6 inches); 4, Carlos Luti, Argentina (1 foot); 5, Birchall Pearson, Canada (6 inches); 6, Harold Wright, Canada. Time—10.6 seconds.

(1 foot); 5, Daniel Joubert, South Africa (1 foot); 6, Takayoshi Yoshioka, Japan. Time—10.3 seconds. (New Olympic record and ties world's record set by Percy Williams, Canada, 1930. Old Olympic record of 10.4 set by Tolan yesterday).

400-metre hurdles (437.4 yards). Finals—Won by Robert Tisdall, Ireland (1 yard); 2, Glenn Hardin, U.S.A. (1 foot); 3, F. Morgan Taylor, U.S.A. (6 inches); 4, Lord David Burghley, Great Britain (2 feet); 5, Luigi Facelli, Italy (2 yards); 6, Johan Areskoug, Sweden. Time—51.8 seconds. (Better world's record of 52 seconds flat, set 1928 by Taylor, U.S.A., but will not be accepted as one hurdle knocked down.)

Hardin, second finisher, credited with officially tying world's record and setting Olympic record with time of 52 seconds flat. Old Olympic record 53.4, held by Lord Burghley and Taylor, 1928.

practical utility if it still leaves a tariff wall too high to climb.

Some of her agricultural interests are also pressing for tariff protection in the British market not only against the foreigner, but also against products from the Dominions.

Like the Dominions, Britain is now studying the position to see how far she can go in the way of return concessions. It seems likely that she will eventually turn to a form of three-decker tariff, with the highest rates against the foreigner with whom she has no trade treaties; a lower rate for trade treaty negotiation with foreign countries; the lowest rate for Empire goods.

CERTAIN PREFERENCES

The Import Duties Act which laid down Great Britain's new tariff system authorizes the Treasury, on recommendation of the Board of Trade, to grant "preference in the case of certain foreign goods." Trade treaty countries are evidently in mind.

There seems little likelihood at present that the British will make any rejoinder to the South African statement of Sunday night. The idea is rather to let the matter rest.

Delegates are hoping to conclude the conference by August 16.

terday's election gave 230 to the Nazis, 133 to the Socialists, eighty-nine to the Communists, thirty-seven to the Nationalists, seven to the populists, four to the Christian Socialists, two to the economic party, two to the agricultural alliance, two to the Farmers' Federation, two to the State's party and two to the farmer's party.

There was much conjecture about the reasons for a concentration of 933 members of Hitler's storm troops on election night at Boohum. Each of these men was fully equipped for the field and they were supplied with rations, motor vehicles and other agencies and implements of warfare.

Whatever enterprise they had in mind evaporated when police corralled them, loaded them into lorries and kept them overnight in a riding school. The next morning they were told to go home, one at a time.

ACTS OF VENGEANCE

The most serious of today's political disorders was in Koenigsberg, where there were murderous assaults and bomb throwings interpreted generally as Nazi acts of vengeance. Herr Sauf, leader of the Communist party there, was shot dead in his bed. A Communist named Zarpius was wounded, probably fatally, and several others injured.

The Nazis got an absolute majority in only one of the nation's thirty-five election districts yesterday. That was in Schleswig-Holstein, where their vote was 54.9 per cent of the total. But, in Hanover, they got 48.5 per cent; in East Frankfort-on-Oder, 48.2, in Liegnits, 48 and in Pomerania, 47.9.

CENTRIST GAINS

In the Catholic West and South their vote was down around 20 per cent. Another noteworthy detail was the fact that the Catholic centre gained heavily in the Protestant districts of Saxony and Mecklenberg.

When the new Parliament assembles, probably August 20 or 30, something will have to be done to make room for the thirty additional members, as seating accommodations are stretched to the utmost. In the last Reichstag, which had

Wilfred Pendray, of Saanich, will be presented with a Royal Canadian Humane Society's certificate for life-saving by Reeve William Crouch, who will officiate at the ceremony.

The Pendray boy was responsible for saving Charles Brewer from drowning in Swan Lake, Saanich, on February 1, 1932.

Community singing will be led by Frank L. Tupman and members of the Victoria Male Voice Choir. The singing will take place in front of the new open fireplace that has been constructed on the picnic grounds.

Prince Unveils Last Monument in France To Empire's Heroes

President of France Says World Given Lead to Mutual Understanding—Memorial to Flyers Unveiled by Lord Trenchard

THIEPVAL, France, Aug. 1 (CP).—"Let us advance to new conquests—to the conquest of world peace and international amity." This was the challenge delivered by the Prince of Wales at the unveiling today of the final British monument in France to the 1,100,000 men of the Empire who lost their lives in the Great War.

In the shadow of the huge triumphant pyramid of archways, which the Imperial War Graves Commission has erected to the honor of 73,000 missing men, the Prince referred to the Franco-British brotherhood in the war years.

"It is fitting," said the Prince, "that this crowning stone in the work of the Imperial War Graves Commission should be laid in France. It is fitting that the last of their memorials should bear tribute to the armies of France as well as our own.

INDIVIDUALLY RECORDED

"Throughout the world, wherever our armies fought, the names of our dead are individually recorded," said the Prince; "these names, so long as we remember them, shall inspire us to a better civilization in which it will be realized that the only sure happiness for any nation is to be found in the peace and prosperity of the whole world. Let that be a message which through these memorials we pass on, from our dead to the generations to come."

President Le Brun called upon Europe to co-operate in peace, declaring France and Great Britain in their recent accord of collaboration have led the way toward mutual understanding.

The memorial is the largest any of the Allies has erected in France.

URGE AID FOR LUMBER TRADE

Messages Are Sent by Victoria Chamber of Commerce to Ottawa

A telegraphic message was sent yesterday to Hon. H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce, and Hon. S. F. Tolmie, Premier of British Columbia, urging upon them the necessity for action in connection with the lumber industry. This was done following the meeting of the directors of the Chamber of Commerce, when J. O. Cameron gave the information that he had received a message from the lumber representatives of the province then in Ottawa, urging that action be taken.

Mr. Cameron pointed out that the situation as far as the lumber industry was concerned was in bad shape and if anything could be done to help it would be a wise move. The Alberni Pacific mill, the Hillcrest mill, the mill at Youbou and the one at Red Gap had all either closed down of late or were about to close.

It was decided to acquaint Messrs. Stevens and Tolmie with the situation in connection with the assistance that they were rendering the lumber industry of the province in Ottawa in connection with the economic conference.

THREE PERMITS TOTAL $20,000

Powerhouse to Be Erected--Gordon Block and Choir Stall Will Be Altered

Permits for three important construction jobs were issued yesterday by City Building Inspector James Barf. Total value of the work is estimated at nearly $20,000.

The largest undertaking is a new power house for Ormonds, Ltd., at 242 Mary Street. This building will cost $8,600, and the latest type steam engine, for generating power, will be installed, it was stated.

Alterations to the old Gordon block, at 1712 Yates Street, will be carried out at a cost of $6,765, for the Standard Furniture Company, which expects to move into the new premises in about ten weeks' time.

All five floors will be completely remodelled, as also will the store front and main entrance.

The third permit issued was for alteration to the choir stalls of the First United Church to make room for the new $16,000 pipe organ. This work will be carried out at a cost of $4,000.

TO SELL POULTRY UNDER STANDARDS

Government Rules Will Apply Where This System Is Adopted—Official Coming Here

Dressed poultry is to be sold in Victoria under Canadian Government standards. This is announced by W. Haggar, Dominion egg inspector here, who has a stock of tags on hand for distribution to those wishing to avail themselves of these.

G. R. Wilson, Dominion poultry promoter, in charge of this phase of the work, will be in Victoria on Thursday and Friday of this week for the special purpose of instructing and demonstrating to the wholesale trade, and to those retail merchants who have already purchased the poultry tags, the principle of grading according to the Canadian Government standards.

The department has for free distribution a large quantity of circulars giving a description of the classes and grades, and the different colors of the tags used for the standards. In addition the department has prepared a circular containing various recipes for preparing many tasty dishes in which chicken can be used. These will please the most discriminating taste and are particularly appetizing at this time of the year.

ADVANTAGES DERIVED

The success of the Canadian egg standards and egg regulations has led to the adoption of dressed poultry standards. The improvement of buying dressed poultry graded and inspected under Government supervision for interprovincial shipment during the last five years, and the fact that the retail merchant has been able to buy his Christmas supplies by seeing that the Government mark has been placed on the box, knowing that that particular box of poultry fulfills the requirements of the standards laid down in the dressed poultry regulations, have been sufficient proof of the success of this interprovincial movement.

This success has prompted several of our leading merchants to suggest that steps be taken to bring these standards more forcibly home to the buying public, and the advantages derived thereby would help to build up a larger consumption of poultry of all kinds, which in turn would encourage the producer to finish off his stock so as to participate in the benefits to be derived from selling on grade. As a result of meetings held in the city, it was unanimously adopted that steps would be taken to bring this about.

TWO CLASSES

In the Canadian Government standards there are two classes, milk-fed and selected. Briefly, the definitions are as follows:

Milk fed—Showing a white color in the deposits of fat, and a fine and soft texture in the skin and fleshing, the outward evidence of special feeding.

Selected—Showing a yellow color in the deposits of fat, and no evidence of milk feeding.

In these classes there are four grades, viz. specials, Grade A, B. and C, and for the purpose of distinguishing these classes and grades, many of our leading poultry dealers have secured a quantity of the various tags for attaching to each and every individual bird sold. This will be an absolute guarantee of quality to the housewife when making purchases from her poultry dealer, either personally or by telephone.

Sinclair's Birthday Celebrated in Rain Somewhere in China

By GORDON SINCLAIR

HANCHOW, China.—Eight train wrecks caused by bomb-tossers, brigands and up-country buccaneers had cost eighty-nine Chinese lives in the past two weeks and another bomb loosed stranded the Shanghai Express at Chowkingchang some time recently and caused your pet globe-girdler to greet the dawn of his thirty-second birthday under a mussy tarpaulin somewhere in China.

GORDON SINCLAIR

Since rain was driving across the rice fields in sheets, forty or fifty others were trying to cuddle under the same tarpaulin and some of these hadn't bothered with such trifles as baths for a month or so. Your nose always knows in a case like this. Even a crippled nose like mine.

Tired of the day and night uproar of Shanghai I figured on spending my birthday in Nanking, capital of China. Adventure beckoned too because half the rails had been torn up by Japan's February bombardment and only three trains had so far crossed the repaired line.

CHINESE COURAGE

I loaded one battered bag, tucked myself out of half the rain in a rickshaw and trotted for the fourth time up to war-torn Chapel. We jogged along the seven rows of barbed wire which separated the neutral zone from bedlam and disaster. The rickshaw boy was only a shaggy straw hat to me. That's all of him I could see from under the hanging blanket in front of me. But he swayed several times and finally stopped all out of breath.

"No can do," he said apologetically. "Too tired?" "Much wire," he grinned through pain. I looked down and saw his feet bleeding from a dozen cuts. The blood cut a tiny rivulet of red through the mud and rain which engulfed us.

"No shoes?" I asked. "No have got."

I was all ready to hand this chap the gold ribbon of courage. For at least two miles he'd been running over ruins. Running in the rain with perhaps fifteen cents as his goal and stray barbs of wire waiting to cut him down at every few steps.

Along the south side of the road were a few shops. The north was desolation and darkness. I saw woven sandals in one shop, so I told the lad to push his cart over and I'd get him a pair.

"No, no," he said, "bad joss." "Bad joss?" "Yes, Japanese shop. No can do. I all light."

I gave him a Chinese dollar and he gripped it in his two hands and bowed three times. Then I walked on in the mud and got splashed by passing cars.

A temporary shack of box cars, galvanized iron and furniture from ruined houses served as a station back of the real station which was only three jagged walls pointing into the sky. Big Cantonese stood guard in the rain and inside was a tired mass of Chinese, completely surrounded by bundles and wounded men. The wounded were survivors of the Nineteen Route Army going north to hospital. They were dressed like prisoners, but had Red Cross bands on their arms and an appearance of well-scrubbed cleanliness.

"THIRD" FOR FUN

Three black and white first class sleepers were on a siding with an armed guard standing over them. I could have gone aboard and to sleep, but decided to travel third for the fun. The agent said he couldn't sell me a third class ticket. Against the rules, it seems, white man has to keep up his dignity. "Okay, give me second class to Nanking." "Return?" "No. I may came back another way." "There is no other way." "I can come by the river in a junk."

He slipped me the long white ticket and I put my bundle with the third-class crowd and sat among the kids. They looked like Sunny Jim with tiny bits of pigtail and round moon faces. Chubby lads with a relentless appetite. They ate litchee nuts by the dozen and then started in on watermelon seeds. There were a lot of girls in the group, too. Girls about seventeen to twenty, all chaperoned and all dressed in black with red bows dangling from their braided pigtails. The hair usually dropped well below their hips. They had clothes all done up around their necks, but no buttons. Everything was roped into shape. The dresses were split up the side, sometimes to the knee and sometimes to the hip.

When they blew the whistle that sent us clattering through the gates, the girls took off their black dresses and put on brown shapeless things which made them look like potato bags.

I went in with the third class bunch among the babies and bird-cages. The up and coming Chinese can't even take in a war without a few birds in a cage. We tumbled into a long wooden coach. There were slippery seats on each side and a table down the middle. There were only half as many windows as our trains have and these were barred. The sick soldiers sprawled among bundles on the floor and no less than three conductors with pistols hung around their necks punched our tickets. The boys continued to munch watermelon seeds. A fellow with two stoves swung over a bamboo pole came in and sold a few bowls of shredded meat and boiled rice before he filled the car with smoke. Then he picked up his perambulating dining car and vanished into the rain.

SPECIAL FOR WOUNDED

There was lots of noise and uproar outside, so I went out and saw them hoisting stretcher cases into a special car. The wives, mothers and young of these wounded defenders of Shanghai were evidently convinced that the only way to make their man well again was feed him well, and they had everything from varnished ducks to spiced pork in big wicker baskets. I came back, but my seat was gone, so I parked on the floor among the soldiers who had dropped off to sleep. We rolled out of the ruined station and then came back again and sat there more than an hour. It was about midnight. After a bit we took a second try, and one of the gunmen took his place at each end of our car. Gas lights flickered as the car lurched from side to side.

I tried to get up near a window to look out, but every window was jammed, and they wouldn't let me stand on the vestibule. The air got thicker and thicker, what with few windows, a crowded car and enough damp food to fill an army. Gradually my head nodded and I fell asleep. It was probably hours later when I woke with my head in a woman's lap.

BIRTHDAY IN CHINA

I stood up and that woke the woman, who looked pretty sore about something. The guards were gone, so I stood looking out in the rain. There wasn't a thing to see. Just black, flat country with the rain making a peaceful Springlike patter in the flooded fields.

I sat smoking on the steps. There were some chocolate and biscuits back in my kit, so I dug them out and a soldier offered me some pink beer. At least it looked pink and tasted like beer. They didn't seem very curious, but after we'd sat there an hour I got out and walked up front to discover we were stranded. Most of the train had gone on, leaving three cars on the main line.

Pretty soon an engine came back and hauled us into Chowkingchang, where the rest of the train was waiting on a siding. We fussed around there a long time, and finally they made us all get out. There was lots of talk about what was doing, but when I tried to find out what it was the tiny station got filled up, and I had to duck for the tarpaulin lying on the planks. The train shrieked a few times and backed away like an angry dragon.

I was beginning to inhale that philosophy of the refugee: "We're here because we're here because we're here." But where are we? I didn't know, but I knew it was my birthday when the east turned grey and the rain still drenched the quiet rice fields.

HARD TO AROUSE PUBLIC OPINION

Dept. of Agriculture Tells of Experience in Seeking to Enlist Use of Home Products

The proposal recommended by Duncan Board of Trade in favor of trying to interest restaurants and hotels in the use of British Columbia products, especially, in poultry and dairy products, is a difficult end to accomplish, it was represented to the directors of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday.

J. B. Munro, Deputy Minister of Agriculture for the province, pointed out in a communication, that the department had for a period extending over months carried on a campaign in this direction, going to the extent of having reminders printed and supplied to the restaurants and hotels. The results had not been very satisfactory. There would have to be a great deal of co-operation if the project is to be made a success.

Frank Partridge, representing the home products group of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, told of the experience of that branch which had been very similar to that of the department.

It was decided to send a copy of Mr. Munro's letter to the Duncan body.

LONG SERVICE IS RECOGNIZED

Granville Cuppage, Forty-One Years in Civil Service, Retires

After forty-one years of valued service in the British Columbia Department of Lands, Granville Cuppage, of 76 Menzies Street, is now to retire. Mr. Cuppage was the recipient of an illuminated address and a handsome token of remembrance from his colleagues in the lands department recently, the presentation being made by Henry Outhcart, deputy minister. Mr. Cuppage replied to the hearty good wishes of his friends in the service.

The gift of his colleagues included an illuminated scroll, setting out the esteem in which Mr. Cuppage is held by his colleagues in the service, and reciting his service as one of the senior employees in point of years in the entire Civil Service.

This was accompanied by a handsome cigarette lighter and case, suitably engraved. Mr. Cathcart voiced the appreciation of the department for the valued services of Mr. Cuppage, and members of the department joined in wishing continued health and longevity to their retiring colleague.

As the address recited, Mr. Cuppage entered the service as a clerk in the Department of Lands and Works on May 27, 1891, serving later as mining recorder in 1902 and for a period of ten years before being transferred to the Forest Branch in 1912. For the last twenty years he has filled an important post in the same branch to the satisfaction of the department and his many friends in the service.

COUPLE IN CLOG WORLD HIKE

Clad in Dutch national costume and shod in Dutch clogs, Mr. and Mrs. van Hassel, of the Hague, Netherlands, are hiking around the world. They left the Hague last September, and have visited Amsterdam, Rotterdam, Brussels, Lille, Roubaix, Amiens, and Paris. They are now in the Rouen district, in France, and their national costume attracts much attention as they plod along the Normandy highways. So far they have bravely refused to hitch hike. After visiting Normandy, Brittany, and the South of France, they intend to see Africa, America and Asia. Their great trouble on board ship, they are quoted as saying, will be to get enough walking.

GERMANY AT THE CROSSROADS

It cannot be doubted that the Lausanne Agreement played a large part in the German elections for the Reichstag on Sunday. The followers of Herr Hitler have made very substantial gains, so great indeed that as a factor in the political life of the country it may be forecast that no government, which does not subscribe to their dictation, will hold power for long. They have practically doubled their representation in the Reichstag. Their's indeed is the triumph of the election, and the gains they have made give a clear indication of the trend of political thought and the manner in which the Germans as a whole are looking for new and virile leadership without any particular consideration as to where it is going.

The Lausanne Agreement was assailed bitterly by Herr Hitler. Despite the fact that Germany is by far the greatest gainer through the pact the Navis describe it as "The new Tribute Pact," and Herr Hitler himself says it will "within six months not be worth three marks." The Nazis are determined to wipe reparations entirely off the slate. They are self centred, self contained and intensely nationalistic. Seemingly they are unconcerned about the good faith, the good sense and the good will which nations should show one another if there is to be international economic revival. This is not a time for self sufficiency, and in its verdict yesterday Germany can only be regarded as having taken a backward step. There is blindness in the attitude towards economic truth where belief prevails that misfortune can be avoided by standing alone. The Nazis want Germany to withdraw into herself. They are seemingly unaware that such a course will only increase economic and political difficulties, not only for Germany herself but for all Europe.

The elections can hardly be interpreted as other than a weakening of President von Hindenburg's power. It is sinister that the campaign should have been marked by the most serious rioting that has occurred in the country for many years. It is a sign of the weakness of the von Papen dictatorship that the storm troops of the Nazis were able to assemble and even to operate in some communities The temper of the followers of Herr Adolp Hitler is such that Sunday's verdict will be interpreted as a great national triumph, even if it does not mean securing immediately the reins of power. Their enthusiasm will be increased. Overt acts of violence may well become intensified. As the largest and most compact body in the Reichstag they will be entitled to manoeuvre continuously to secure office. The political elements which oppose the National Socialists are so divided that it may be doubted if, in the face of the substantial strengthening of Nazism, they can form anything like a stable government. In effect, the future of Germany, politically and economically, presents wider aspects of uncertainty than at any time since the republic came into being. A new problem has been created for statesmanship in Europe.

FAILURE OF STATE OWNERSHIP

The ships of the Canadian Government Merchant Marine are for sale, but there are no purchasers. The vessels were built at high prices, and since their construction, in war time, the price of tonnage has decreased very considerably Even if the Government vessels are not sold it will repay Canada to give up state ownership. Formidable losses have been incurred and there are large annual debit balances on operation alone.

One factor which makes a sale of these vessels difficult is that they are located where practically no demand for shipping exists. The shipping correspondent of The London Times says that no European buyers would be likely to consider purchasing the vessels without a thorough examination by qualified marine surveyors and a careful estimate of any expenditures needed. Moreover, it would be necessary to send crews from Europe to take over any vessels bought. The correspondent also says: "The losses on the Canadian Government Merchant Marine are only one example of the difficulties which beset state trading, and the knowledge that the Canadian Government is withdrawing from competitive shipping services should, in due course, help to restore confidence in the shipping industry."

VANCOUVER BOY'S OLYMPIC VICTORY

Canada has begun her fight for Olympic points in gallant fashion with the victory of young Duncan McNaughton, of Vancouver, in the high jump. He won with a jump of 6 ft. 5 5-8 in. The Olympic record is 6 ft. 5.95 in., made by H. H. Osborne, of the United States, in 1924, and the world's record was also made by the same athlete with a jump of 6 ft. 8 1-4 in. in 1925. McNaughton was not expected to win; in fact, the high jump was one of the events practically conceded to the United States. There is all the more credit, therefore, for McNaughton in his great effort, and he has set a shining example to his fellow countrymen in the events still to be decided.

Canada failed in the 100 metres event, all her three entries being eliminated in the semi-finals. It is not often that an athlete repeats a victory in the Olympic Games, and Percy Williams, for whom great hopes were entertained, has nothing to reproach himself with, for to win the 100 metres at such a gathering twice, the second time after an interval of four years, would require a running prodigy. In running races, only once in the history of the Olympic Games, since 1896, has an athlete gained a dual victory in the same event, and that was D. G. A. Lowe, of Britain, who won the 800-metre race in 1924 and in 1928.

Lord Burghley failed in the final of the 400-metre hurdles, but victory went to R. M. Tisdall, of Ireland, who has been prominently identified with athletics in Cambridge University for some years past. A Pole, Januaz Kusochinski, won the 10,000 metres, an event which had gone to Finland ever since H. Kolehmainen won in 1920. So far the few events that have been decided have been divided up among a number of countries. The competition bids fair to be of a more record-breaking character in the matter of new times set than any of its predecessors. Empire representatives have good chances of winning more firsts and of gaining points by placing in finals. The Empire representation may be small as compared with previous years, but it is well picked and has made an excellent beginning at the Games.

EMPIRE'S MONETARY PROBLEM

One of the largest problems confronting the Imperial Conference is the evolving of a permanent relationship between the currencies of each Dominion and Colony and Great Britain and the stable value of such currencies in terms of commodities. The problem is a complex one on account of the intricacies of international credit. Some financial experts, however, believe it can be solved by bringing into existence some central financial organization with sufficient reserves to give confidence to Empire traders, "that their trade debts will be met on a recognized and permanent basis." It could mean, as well, that traders "could enter freely into arrangements for exchanging their goods far into the future without any fear of being let down through some financial mal-adjustment." That is the opinion of Captain Peter Macdonald, M.P., Secretary of the Committee for Imperial Affairs in the British Parliament.

Little information has leaked out from the deliberations of the currency committee of the Imperial Conference, which is sitting under the chairmanship of Mr. H. H. Stevens. Probably nothing will be heard of a definite character until a conclusion is reached, and even that conclusion will have to be subjected to searching examination before it could become an actuality. It is an issue that would have to be adjusted with every consideration given to the implications of international exchange and international credit.

Britain has recaptured her old leadership in trade exports. The statistics for the first six months of the present year, with totals calculated in sterling at par rate of exchange, show Britain, £187,000,000; the United States, £168,300,000; and Germany, £149,500,000. Last year the figures stood, Britain, £199,200,000; Germany, £238,400,000, and the United States, £263,200,000. Britain's shrinkage in exports has only been 6 per cent, whereas that of the United States has been 23 per cent, and Germany, 37 per cent. In an upsetting economic world Britain remains the most stable of all the nations.

UNDER THE HAWTHORN

In cataracts the hawthorn, white and red,
Hung o'er the flowery margin of the way . . .
It must have been the latter end of May . . .
With fragrant petals falling on your head.
Close to mine ear in that rich dusk you said . . .
Yes, I remember, neither night nor day, . . .
You said . . . What was it that I heard you say?
What words with love and youth ensorceled?

The nightingale in that tall hawthorn brake,
The crescent moon and you and I aglow, \
You said . . . but, ah, your voice was very low.
As there we stood both burning at love's stake,
You said . . . Dear ghost, what were the words you spake?
I have forgotten . . . Forty years ago! . . .

—I.C. in The Morning Post.

FREE STATE AND THE EMPIRE

Mr. De Valera and the men who compose his Government have refused to submit the issue to any tribunal solely composed of arbitrators drawn from within the British "Commonwealth of Nations." This is another sign of the warped and twisted mentality which seeks to remain outside the British Empire for all essential purposes, while retaining a right to all the advantages it can offer. If the objection had been merely to men of British race, it would have been easy to get French-Canadians or South Africans of Dutch extraction, for instance, who are eminent lawyers and well qualified to sit on any tribunal, but it seems that because such men were born within the British Empire their impartiality is not to be trusted.—Belfast Telegraph.

When a man assumes a public trust, he should consider himself as public property.—Thomas Jefferson.

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

Woodman, spare that tree!
Touch not a single bough!
In youth it sheltered me,
And I'll protect it now.
—Morris.

There is a pleasure in the pathless woods,
There is a rapture on the lonely shore,
There is a society where none intrudes
By the deep sea, and music in its roar;
I love not man the less, but nature more.
—Byron.

Before the continent of America became a discovered country, at least in the estimation of people who thought they only really mattered, the country was more noted for its dense forests than for its great wide-open spaces. The hordes of people who swarmed into America, not in the immediate but in the remote footsteps of Columbus, naturally believed that their first duty was to clean things up. So they proceeded to cut down the trees and clear the land for the husbandman. They polished up the country so effectually that in most parts of the United States and Canada there is hardly a vestige of the ancient forests left standing. Today most far-sighted Americans and Canadians are beginning to realize that the mania for cutting down and cleaning up has gone too far and are beginning to plant trees in the places where trees used to grow.

Twenty-five or thirty years ago there were many trees in Victoria and in the districts round about, but there were not many trees growing on the streets of Victoria. Those which were growing there grew in straggling groups and without semblance of symmetry or order. Then one day there arrived a man from Winnipeg, a part of Canada where for obvious reasons a good deal of value was attached to the value and the beauty of trees. the worth and the beauty of trees. parks board, or whatever the name of the authority of that time, and he proceeded to raise trees in a nursery, and in due time planted them in seried rows along the streets.

The young things grew fast and flourished exceedingly, and today are things of beauty and a joy forever to the eyes of all but a few beholders, notwithstanding the barbarous treatment to which they have been subjected at annual intervals by alleged scientific aboriculturists. Now we are informed that the growth so much time and trouble was devoted to fostering and promoting has become a menace and a nuisance and must be either cut down entirely or thinned out judiciously. We cannot account for this spirit of destruction except on an assumption or speculation that it is a natural inheritance from the forefathers who deemed that their first duty was to clear off and permanently destroy the trees of the American forests. Another possible assumption is that in the early stages of life the natural disposition of men is to kill things endowed with the principle of life and to break up such things as toys which are destitute of the principle of life.

Like many of the contributors who have been writing letters to the Editor of The Colonist on the subject of the meditated attack on the trees on our boulevards, we feel just a trifle strongly on this subject. On Our Street there are boulevards, but there are no trees, where a few years ago at least a few trees and many shrubs used to grow. On the trees birds sang their songs of love and home in the Springtime and on the shrubs and bushes flowers used to bloom and impregnate the air with their perfume. The trees and shrubs were not deliberately planted on the boulevards by the municipal constituted authorities. They simply grew.

We suppose it was because of the irregularity of this natural growth that it was considered an offence and an eyesore by the park authorities, for a squad of unemployed men was set to work to clean up the "mess," the boulevards are as flat and bare as the backs of the hands of the aldermen and their servants, and there is not a living thing upon them except a growth of wild mustard and dandelions; where the broom and the wild roses used to flourish and bloom in due season, there is nothing but an abomination of desolation. If it is the purpose or the ambition of the constituted authorities to reduce all the boulevards of the city to the condition of the mutilated and scarred borders upon Our Street, we do not wonder that the citizens are alarmed at the apparent policy of the parks board and its counsellor.

We are further told that an edict has gone forth to kill and spare not the broom which is flourishing here more luxuriously than in any other part of the world, not even excepting the part of the world of which it is a native. We know there is some prejudice against the broom, upon the ground that it spreads so rapidly and takes root so firmly that it is hard to eradicate from the fruitful agricultural places in which it establishes itself. As a matter of fact, we know from personal experience that the roots of the broom do not penetrate deeply into the soil, for we cleared a whole city lot overgrown with it in the space of a few hours, and in after years the growth never came back. In that respect the broom is quite different from its cousin, the whin or the furz, which is as tenacious of life and place as the thistle, and once established is difficult to eradicate.

Victoria is surely old enough to have outlived the spirit of childhood when the natural propensity is to kill and destroy rather than to preserve and cultivate; to do things in the name of science which we know in our hearts, and in our minds, too, for that matter, if done at all, would be done in contravention of principles the reverse of true science.

ADDED LOVE

I used to love such little things—
The slanting gold that sunrise brings,
The way the creeping ivy clings!

I used to love sweet Summer's end,
Bright leaves she fluttered like a friend,
Who, waving thus, adieus might send.

I used to love the twilight mood;
That brief but perfect interlude
Whereon no cares of day intrude.

And then, my own, you came to me;
Those little loves that used to be
Were merged in great love's ecstasy!

You came to me and you possessed
My life. Ah, what were all the rest—
The little loves within my breast?

And yet, how strange a thing, how glad!
This great love only seems to add
To all those lesser loves I had!

The time used is Pacific standard for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the table, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

The height is in feet and tenths of a foot, measured from the average level of low water.

To find the depth of water on the sill of the Esquimalt drydock at any tide, add 19.8 feet to the height of high water as above given.

To find the depth of water on the sill of the Songhees drydock add 20 feet to the height of high water as above given

EXHIBITION AND BROOD MARES

Sir,—Wishing to enter a thoroughbred brood mare at the forthcoming exhibition, I was sorry, on examining the prize list, to find that no provision had been made for this type of horse, though in previous years there were well-filled classes for thoroughbred stallions, mares and young stock.

In view of the fact that the thoroughbreds, owing to taxes on racing, contribute handsomely to the provincial exchequer, and the owners and breeders of the province in their capacity as taxpayers do the same, is it not unfortunate they should be denied an opportunity to enter at the Provincial Exhibition?

PROTECTION OF TREES

Sir,—After reading with much apprehension the letters of Mr. F. B. Pemberton and others, published in your paper, re the saving of shade trees, I take this opportunity to call on Mr. Pemberton to form an association for the protection of trees, to take in Victoria and the surrounding municipalities, as we have already had far too much destruction and mutilation of our trees in these localities.

I would suggest that Mr. Barnjum be made honorary president of such society, with Mr. Pemberton as president.

From the talk I have heard, I am sure that the membership would be both large and influential.

THE CURRENCY PROBLEM

Sir,—In your issue of Saturday, Mr. Charles Ellis delivers an attack on the economics featured in my letter of July 27. Whilst appreciating the delicacy he displays in doubting my veracity, I cannot allow his innuendo to pass unchallenged, and I must reiterate with all the emphasis at my command my contention that not only is work the only true medium on which to base our exchange, but that it is the only real value in this old world of ours.

In this connection it is obvious to most of us that gold has failed in its man-made purpose, and currency manipulation by "maligned financiers," together with their rapacious hoarding, has been the cause thereof. Whilst denying that the labor expended in production is the sole "value" of that so-poduced commodity, Mr. Ellis claims that the value is determined by the wants of the people, i.e., demand—and by the scarcity of supply, i.e., scarcity of the labor of production. Just so; but is not this supply and demand ratio absolutely contingent on the ability of the consumer to purchase, which ability is itself entirely dependent on the opportunity to work and earn. Work is therefore the source of supply and demand and the determining factor in realizing worth or value.

"These values," says Mr. Ellis, "may be expressed through a body of reference such as gold and a monetary exchange." Yes, maybe! That is the present system and we all know how well that is functioning today, with a third or more of his "body of reference" sealed and buried two hundred feet beneath the Seine in Paris and in the vaults of American financiers! The "money exchange" he talks about is chiefly remarkable for the adamant quality of its "static," whilst "to persuade financiers to manipulate things (whatever he may mean by that vague, uneconomical term) and exchange media, so that all men would benefit," would not only be an "economic plan"; it would be a blooming miracle as well!

It is quite easy in these economic-minded days to reel off platitudinous parrotisms and references by the hundred; to explain the reasoning behind them (if any) is not so easy, and Mr. Ellis, perhaps wisely, confines himself to dogmatic statements of theory.

After all, what does he know of economics, that the least learned amongst us don't know? The plain fact of the matter is that our whole economic system is out of date and it's the only one we have so far tried. We gabble eloquently about inflation, deflation, tariffs, economy, wage cuts and price depression, long hours and short hours, blank cheques and managed currency, whereas the only system we know anything about is mismanaged currency—and the depression refuses to budge because the currency (which means movement) won't move!

The real trouble with Mr. Ellis, a very common trouble, unfortunately, is that his horizon is bounded by the reflection of the past; he keeps gazing in a mirror instead of looking through a telescope. The mentality of a Malcolm Campbell or a Kaye Don would be of far more use to us just now than all the fusty, becobwebbed philosophies of dead and dying economic professors, whose ancient theories are crumbling to dust before our eyes. Gold and greed are the foundation of this decaying edifice, because we have made a commodity of the medium of exchange, thus proving that capital is of no use without labor and clearing the stage for the vindication of the truth that labor can and will exist and prosper without capital—in terms of gold at any rate.

We are on the brink of a new era of experimentation and service. Work for all, and productive work at that, must be our slogan in the future. There is a place in the scheme of things for the manipulative financier and his bags of gold, and that place is a desert island, far removed from his present dupes, where he can juggle and jingle his coins to his heart's content—that is, if he has got a heart, which I doubt.

Mr. Ellis has still to show me how this gentleman is of any use to anyone but himself. Meanwhile, let us hitch our economic wagon to a star; we have been trailing after the moon too long already. Lunacy is becoming far too prevalent.

HIGH SCHOOL EXAMINATIONS

Sir,—Your editorial in Saturday's Colonist on the subject of high school examination marks has given rise to a great deal of discussion.

According to examination results it seems that Latin is either better taught or better assimilated than Algebra and Geometry. It must be remembered, however, that Latin is a subject taken only by those students who show a natural aptitude for the subject, whereas all high school students must take Algebra and Geometry.

But as far as Latin Grammar is concerned, it also is a subject demanding accuracy, as you say there must be black or white, with no intermediate shades of grey. Inaccuracy in Latin endings are every bit as fatal as errors in mathematics.

In answer to your query as to the relative excellence of Latin teaching and of mathematical teaching, no comparison can be made; the one is as efficient as the other; but it is quite possible for an examiner to keep strictly within the bounds of the syllabus in both Algebra and Geometry and yet set a paper stiff enough to floor the best of our boy and girl students. Latin, on the other hand, does not offer such a broad field to the examiner. I have not yet seen the papers set and have no idea if this is the solution to the lower marks gained in mathematics.

RECREATION ROOMS

Sir,—Will you kindly convey the thanks of the Shelter Committee to your reading public for the generous reception given to our collectors last Saturday in our appeal for funds to enable us to continue our work for the unemployed men.

The final check-up today gives us $902.72 collected. This sum will pay our expenses until December, and the response indicates the public endorses our efforts. Our star tagger was one of the lads who frequents the rooms, Frank Gibson. He worked all day, and his box counted $41.49. I would also like to acknowledge the response to our call for helpers—150 willing people made the success possible, and also to your own publication and radio station CFCT for generous publicity.

Thanking all for good wishes and practical help.

TREES ON BOULEVARDS

Sir,—I don't wonder at people being alarmed when the cutting down of our lovely trees is brought into question, for these trees and lawns add greatly to the beauty of Victoria's streets and avenues.

At Tonbridge Wells, where I hail from, Broadwater Down, which is quite a mile in length, is planted the whole way with trees which in the Summer meet overhead over the road and form a most beautiful shady avenue. Close on seventy years ago I can well remember these trees being planted, and I am certain—at least to my knowledge—that no harm has ever been done to the drain pipes. But even if a little damage were incurred, I am sure the residents on the Down would never allow these trees to be removed. The trouble is that once the authorities start cutting down trees, they never seem to know where to stop.

O! Would-be woodman spare those trees,
Once fell'd they're hard to replace,
'Twould be like chopping off your nose—
To beautify your face.

"Was it a good one?"

"It was the best one we had. It was the one with 'Grand Palace Hotel' on it."

HON. R. BRUHN SCORES RUMORS

Not Heading "Insurrection," and Loyalty to Party Unchanged

Bluntly discounting reports of what was asserted to be his "insurrection" within the Conservative Party, and stating emphatically that his support of Premier Tolmie would remain absolute, Hon. R. W. Bruhn returned from his riding at Salmon Arm yesterday.

There had been much idle talk in political circles, and the association of his name with this type of rumor was bitterly resented by himself, Mr. Bruhn declared with emphasis.

Mr. Bruhn declined to be drawn into any speculation on what the Provincial Government may do to meet present conditions, but he pointed out that the initiative lay with the Government in any event.

In his own department, he said, there were a number of changes that could be effected if major reorganization were to be undertaken, and when the proper time came he would be prepared to submit to the Government his recommendations on these matters.

Meanwhile, Mr. Bruhn concluded, nothing was to be gained by the spreading of rumors without substantiation in fact.

Newlywed's business partner was looking over the young couple's new flat.

"By the way," he said, after a while, "what happened to that parrot you had before you got married?"

Newlywed shrugged his shoulders sadly.

"Died a few weeks after the ceremony from a broken heart," he informed him.

"Too bad," sympathized his friend, and added in a low whisper, "Jealousy, I suppose?"

"No," said Newlywed in equally low tones, "the poor thing couldn't stand the competition."

YOUR BOLT WILL BE SHOT

"You'd better go slowly and be careful," someone was advised, "your bolt will soon be shot."

That is a very popular metaphor in modern speech to express the idea that one's ammunition will be used up, or, to leave metaphors, that the power or ability or assets one has to bring to a certain object will be exhausted.

The reference in "bolt" is to this Anglo-Saxon word for a dart or missile, a shaft for a crossbow or catapult. Particularly the term formerly described a short, stout, blunt-headed arrow.

The expression is an old one. It is found in the Proverbs of Hendyng as "Sottes bolt is sone shote." And it owes its place in modern speech to John Heywood, in the second part of whose famous "Proverbs" it is found so:

"A fooles bolt is soone shot."

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

(From The Daily British Colonist of August 3, 1882)

Circus News—L. Mort Slocum, the agent of Westman's Great Eastern Circus, is now in the city, accompanied by W. O. Jones, better known as "Old-Time Bill Jones." They are at present arranging for the coming of the circus to this city

Big Egg—T. Geiger has a Leghorn hen which would be a perfect bonanza to egg throwers about election time. She yesterday presented her owner with an egg which weighs a trifle under four ounces.

Ringing by Electricity—Arrangements were made yesterday for the striking of the Tiger fire bell by electricity. The power is supplied from a neat little hydraulic apparatus similar to those used for blowing church organs, with the difference that the power is controlled by electricity. The machinery is under the control of the telephone company.

Accident at Quesnel—A fatal accident occurred near Quesnel recently when a tree fell upon P. O. Charlebois as he was constructing a canoe. The unfortunate man passed away one hour after the accident. He was a native of Coteau Landing, Quebec.

Many Men Finding Work in B.C. Gold Camps This Season

Record Yield in Placer Gold Anticipated in British Columbia This Year, as Hundreds Work Gravels and Develop Prospects

Several hundred men are engaged in placer mining in the Nelson district, and promising returns in gold are being secured, B. T. O'Grady, provincial resident engineer at Nelson, reports in his semi-annual review of conditions in his district, made recently to Hon. W. A. McKenzie, Minister of Mines.

Just returned himself from a departmental tour through the Interior sections of the province, Mr. McKenzie said much encouragement is being felt in the resultant discoveries from active placer operations this year, and a record output of gold for 1932 can be confidently expected by the Province.

MUCH GOLD RECOVERED

Mr. O'Grady draws attention in his report to the Nelson-Ymir-Sheep Creek areas, where gold is being taken out on a number of properties, with a considerable total number of men at work.

In the Nelson mining division, near Ymir, four carloads of ore have been shipped from the Goodenough mine, where six men are at work. Shipments of crude ore are being made from the Blackstock, with sixteen men employed. At the Ymir-Wilcox concentrates are being shipped, with seven men at work. The Yankee Girl is giving employment to twenty men, and substantial shipments are being maintained. Between Ymir and Salmo, three carloads of ore have been shipped from the Clubine-Comstock prospect on Boulder Creek, with three men employed. In the Sheep Creek camp eight men are doing surface work on the Gold Belt group of claims.

CONSIDERABLE CREWS

"At the Reno great activity is in evidence in connection with the power plant under construction by A. H. Green & Company, the aerial tram undertaking and the rehabilitation of the Motherlode mill," continues Mr. O'Grady. "These projects will provide employment shortly for 125 men. At the Kootenay Belle, Frank Phillips is assembling a crew of men, and installation of a small mill is being discussed. F. M. Black and associates own the property.

"At the Queen, C. E. Witter, of Moscow, Idaho, has made a start with a small crew, and the mill is being renovated. At the Columbia and Vancouver prospects a few men are working. At the first-mentioned, J. Sapples is preparing to ship ore, and from the Vancouver three carloads have recently been shipped by J. Gallo.

"At the Wolf Lake group a small crew has been put to work by Washington interests. On Erie Creek, A. Sostad is getting started with a few men on the Second Relief mine.

OUTSIDE INVESTMENT

"Near Nelson, activities with small crews of men include those at the Venus and Juno, Victoria and Jessie, Perrier and Humming Bird. At the Humming Bird development work, with six men, is being financed by a syndicate including Dr. W. Merritt, of Calgary; T. E. Lavasseur and F. T. Harbour, both of Nelson. On Hall Creek activities by claim owners include those at the Gold King, Rainbow and H. B. claims. All the above are gold properties.

"Work has been resumed by the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company, with seven men at the Molly Gibson silver-lead mine.

"At Rossland work by leasers continues at the I.X.L., Snowdrop, Midnight and other claims on O.K. Mountain. One mile north of Rossland work was recently started by C. E. Fraser and associates at the Evening Star property. The ore here is auriferous arsenopyrite.

"In the West Kootenay generally, representatives of United States capital are actively engaged investigating gold prospects.

"In the Slocan City mining division, Edward Anderson is developing the Kilo with six men; R. J. Johnson and associates are leasing at the Meteor and are preparing to ship ore; and gold prospecting is intensified.

PROSPECTS PROMISING

"In the East Kootenay, where placer mining exploration is again becoming prominent, lode-gold mining has not yet developed to any appreciable extent, but prospects are being investigated, including the Homestake and other Perry Creek prospects.

"Except for the Sullivan operation and the development work being done at the property of the Witwatersand Syndicate, near Golden, silver-lead-zinc company operations are marking time. Considerable activity by leasers is in evidence near Sandon and Silverton, in the Slocan camp, and near Retallack and Rambler, in the Ainsworth mining division.

"This does not include the numerous minor exploratory activities limited to one or two individuals at many other points, all of which are chiefly in connection with gold prospects," Mr. O'Grady reports in conclusion.

The foregoing report is only one of many in the hands of the Department of Mines, showing greatly increased activity in placer gold developments, not a few of the prospects having promising indications of turning into valuable producers in time. The whole is expected to contribute to a record high gold output for British Columbia this year, with a still better position in regard to the future.

EVERY WOMAN faces this question

"How do I look to other people?" If you have a lovely skin, attractive eyes, and plenty of enthusiasm, you need not worry.

So many women, though, risk their beauty by neglect of constipation. It often causes loss of pep, sallow skins, dull eyes, pimples.

Yet constipation can be overcome by eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. This cereal provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and Vitamin B which tones the intestinal tract. ALL-BRAN also supplies iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of lettuce. Special cooking processes make it finer, more palatable. It is not habit-forming.

Surely this is safer than abusing the system with pills and drugs—so often habit-forming.

Two tablespoonfuls daily will correct most types of constipation. If your intestinal trouble is not relieved this way, see your doctor.

At all grocers. In the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

Cross Connection Finished; Joining Will Be Delayed

THE thirty-inch cross connection between the Goldstream and Sooke Lake water systems technically has been completed, F. M. Preston, water commissioner, advised the public works committee of the City Council at its meeting last night.

The main, however, has not yet been connected with the Sooke flowline, as to do so would mean Saanich would be without water for thirty-six hours.

As Saanich uses a great deal of water for irrigation during the Summer months, Mr. Preston recommended that the work be completed in September. His recommendation was adopted.

TREE CUTTING DRAWS PROTEST

Citizens Wait Upon Chamber of Commerce Directors and Urge Action by That Body

A committee will be named by the directors of the Chamber of Commerce to take up with the City Council the subject of the cutting down of shade trees on Cook Street. The matter came before the directors yesterday at the luncheon meeting, when R. W. Hibberson and F. B. Pemberton waited upon them and presented their views.

Mr. Hibberson pointed out that the policy adopted about twenty-five years ago for the planting of shade trees along the streets had resulted in the making of the city a credit. These trees belonged to the citizens as a whole, and should not be made subject to removal by the say of any few people or by the park commissioner. Mr. Pemberton felt similarly, and added that he could not see why trees should be consistently pruned in the city, thus spoiling them.

R. H. B. Ker, as chairman, did not wish to have the board interfere with any other body if it could be helped. He felt this was a matter for the City Council, but if the directors wished to name a committee it might be all right. This was decided upon.

WOULD OUST WAR FROM ALL WORLD

Speakers Address Gathering at Central Park in Protest Against Further Sacrifices

Several hundred gathered in Central Park here last night in an open-air demonstration against future wars and listened to a number of speakers drawn from various labor organizations, the church, and other movements.

The meeting was held under the auspices of the Working Class Ex-Service Men's League, and was the concluding number on the antiwar day programme, sponsored by the league in Victoria. The addresses were enthusiastically received and considerable applause greeted the speakers in their references to the futility of war as a means of settling infernational disputes. Much stress was laid on the waste of humanity in the last great war of nations and almost everyone of the speakers warned against a repetition of a similar calamity in the future.

TOTAL DISARMAMENT

Some of the speakers dealt with the cost, not only in the sacrifice of human lives, but for materials for destruction. Others laid the present depression at the doors of the war lords of Europe and all were agreed that war should not only be the war lords of Europe and the outlawed by the word of representatives of nations, but the people of the nations throughout the civilized world. Total disarmament was the only way in which the world could be guaranteed a lasting peace. Some of the orators went so far as to say that the war clouds were already gathering in much the same way as they had during the score of years before the outbreak of the last world catastrophe.

Possibly the strongest argument against war in any form was the happy care-free band of hundreds of children playing their games on the fringe of the antiwar gathering at Central Park. The hundreds of adults around the speakers' platform must have been impressed with the words of the speakers against any further sacrifice of the youth of the nations in what they termed "a useless sacrifice on the altar of tyranny."

THE SPEAKERS

The meeting was orderly and there were no interruptions and every speaker was given an attentive hearing. The speakers were heard in the following order: J. Logie, president of the International Labor party; Rev. J. C. Switzer, pastor of Centennial United Church; V. Midgeley, president of the Victoria branch of the Trades and Labor Council; Rev. Dr. Clem Davies, pastor of the City Tempie; R. Fanthorpe, chairman of the United Front Council; W. Lee and A. Hallberg.

At the conclusion of the meeting, the gathering stood with bared heads in memory of those who had given up their lives in the Great War.

GEODETIC HEAD IS IN VICTORIA

Noel Ogilvie, of Ottawa, director of the Geodetic Survey of Canada, and who is also His Britannic Majesty's international boundary commissioner, is in the city on a short visit. He arrived at the Empress Hotel yesterday and expects to leave again today.

As the international boundary commissioner, Mr. Ogilvie represents Canada in matters connected with the boundary between Canada and the United States. This line of demarkation extends for a distance of 5,500 miles, 3,100 miles of which are on land and the remaining part in various waters that separate the two countries. Under the treaty governing the subject the duty is cast upon the two countries to see that the land sections of the boundary line are kept plainly visible.

Mr. Ogilvie in earlier years was engaged in the delimiting of the Alaska boundary line between the two countries and for some time has been in charge of the geodetic survey work of the Dominion.

Hudson proudly presents the ESSEX TERRAPLANE

What a Car!—and the lowest-priced Six in Canada!

$595

and up, f.o.b. Tilbury (Tax Extra)

The ESSEX TERRAPLANE is here—on display at your Hudson-Essex Dealer's. See it, ride it; you may not need to put down one cent in cash to have it

Back of the ESSEX TERRAPLANE is not only more than 200,000 miles of road-testing, but the experience and capacity of Hudson, one of the oldest and most progressive manufacturers in the automobile industry—a company which for nearly a quarter-century has been distinguished by advanced engineering, sound manufacturing and dependable value in all its products

A new TYPE and KIND of Automobile

Two brothers named Wright flew a power-kite off the bleak sands of Kitty Hawk, and gave to the world the airplane. Genius and daring, seeking new thrills, added hulls and keels to winged motors—and gave us hydroplane.

Today, the earthbound automobile takes on phantom wings—and you have the TERRAPLANE!

Not only a new model but a new kind of automobile, it springs full-powered from the independent, daring, Hudson-Essex engineering that has contributed more than 60 "first's" to automotive progress.

Because it skims the roadways of old terra firma with a fresh, smooth, soaring action akin to flight, Amelia Earhart christened it the TERRAPLANE.

Its new engineering principle is pneumounted power—power set free—with the highest ratio of power to weight ever achieved in a production car here or abroad. Its unit body-and-chassis construction is the first achievement of complete structural entity in any car.

In performance it out-starts, out-climbs, out-runs, out-curves and out-stays cars three times its weight and ten times its price.

BISHOP TELLS EXPERIENCES

Noted Lecturer Outlines Life Among Indians of South Dakota

The fact that Indian lore and legend has no greater charm than native character and their realities, was proven beyond all doubt by Rt. Rev. W. P. Remington, Bishop of Eastern Oregon, when, under the auspices of the Men's Club of Christ Church Cathedral, he addressed a large gathering in the Memorial Hall last night.

The visiting bishop spoke of his own experiences among the Indians of Southern Dakota, and told of the simple, childlike faith of these people, whose insight into the true meaning of life is practically unparalleled.

"These redmen have no great wealth," the lecturer stated, "the white man has robbed them of the fat of the land, but I have seen them give as much as $6,000 at a convocation ceremony."

ABORIGINAL DANCES

In speaking of their struggle for the light of Christianity, Bishop Remington related how an old native once informed him that their aboriginal dances had shown them the feet of God, but it had remained for the advent of the missionary to present to them His face.

In an ardent protest against the way in which the white race has robbed their dark-skinned brothers, the speaker pointed out the manner in which the gold from the Black Hills of the State of South Dakota had been stolen, and stated that the redman all through history had been cheated and looked down upon.

TELLS OF CEREMONIES

The speaker described many of the Dakota ceremonies, and depicted how they showed the character of the Indian.

In conclusion, Bishop Remington warned his congregation not to despise the aborigine of any country, and said: "When you are endeavoring to bring the native to the light of God, don't forget to say a prayer for your own heathen souls."

Bishop Schofield introduced the speaker.

FEELS ESQUIMALT PAYS ITS SHARE

Hospital Figures Under Consideration at Municipal Council Meeting Last Evening

The report from the Royal Jubilee Hospital with reference especially to the part which Esquimalt played in the maintenance was received by the council of the municipality last evening. It was pointed out in the report that the per diem grant amounting to $1,187.20 received from Esquimalt represented 45.327 per cent of the cost of indigent cases.

Reeve Albert Heald did not think that the suggestion that Esquimalt was not paying its share was warranted under the figures. He said that, while the municipality paid 70c per capita per diem for the indigents from Esquimalt, the Government of the Province also paid the same amount.

Councillor Thomas Hadfield said that it was suggested that the Government per capita sum went to take care of the patients from unorganized districts at least in part. It was decided to get further information relative to the matter.

The reeve said that Esquimalt was paying its full part and it was not fair to suggest that it was not paying its way.

New Inspector—The City Council, on the request of Chief of Police Thomas Heatley, last night appointed Inspector John T. Boulton as inspector of motor vehicles on the city's Street Traffic and Regulations By-Law. This action was taken in view of the trouble that exists between competing jitney operators, who cut in on one another's clientele.

Express Charges—A complaint from J. L. Forrester, of Harriet Road, that he had been charged for delivery by an express company of a parcel at his place was brought before the directors of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday. MAY START GAS MAINS AT ONCE

Esquimalt Enters Agreement and Expects Early Connection to Be Provided

The Esquimalt council last night decided to enter an agreement with the B.C. Electric Railway Company for the laying of gas connections in the municipality. The company gave the council the assurance that inside of two years the B.C. Electric would expend $20,000. Reeve Albert Heald said that while the two-year term was inserted in the agreement, the understanding was that the work would commence at once. He expressed satisfaction in the action of the council in entering the arrangement with the company.

Councillor George Wise would have liked to have had some understanding as to just how many local men would be employed on the work.

The reeve gave the assurance that the company was agreeable to employing as many as possible from the municipality. It would be impossible, he felt, for the company to say how many it could employ right now.

Some objection was taken to the meter rental, but the reeve said that this was really a service charge. It was on the same basis as Victoria and it would be impossible to alter it, he felt. The agreement which has now been drawn up provides for a similar rate to be charged for gas in Esquimalt in common with Oak Bay and Saanich as exists in the city of Victoria.

COWS AVERT CRASH

Cows of Skegness, England, are air-minded, according to Wilfred Grunnill, a flying pupil, who is just qualifying for his licence. While planing down into Skegness Aerodrome, during a trial flight, he miscalculated and, instead of landing in the field, he found himself heading straight for a herd of cows huddled together in a field adjoining. The landing wheels just touched the backs of the bossies, but fortunately the beasts stood perfectly still, and the pilot was able to open the throttle and make a "perfect take-off." He then alighted safely in the aerodrome, with no more damage than a buckled spar or two.

Seek Ways Of Finding More Jobs

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1 (AP).—Likelihood that a national conference of business leaders to discuss ways of making more jobs by shortening working hours will be called by President Hoover was seen by participants in a White House conference tonight on re-employment.

Governor Winant of New Hampshire, spokesman for a group of New Englanders who suggested the conference to President Hoover, said no final decision to call a national parley had been reached. Other conferees, however, reported it was "very likely" that Mr. Hoover would take such action.

Upon revealing some $8.50, the stranger hit him over the head and disappeared with the money.

The stranger is still at large.

"COLTS" WIN AT COWICHAN

Youngsters Show Brilliant Form in Defeating Cowichan XI

The opening match of the Cowichan Cricket Club week took place yesterday against a team composed of the most promising "Colts" of Vancouver Island, a Cowichan XI. A great deal of interest was taken in the match inasmuch as most of the boys will be playing on a team representing the province against the Australians on August 16 at the University School grounds. This team will be skippered by Alan Kippax, well-known Australian test player. "Colts" won by eight wickets after a fine display.

Cowichan, having won the toss, decided to bat. Alexander and Dyson opened the bowling for the "Colts." Neither batsman was comfortable and Palin was quickly caught and bowled by Dyson. Carson was almost immediately cleverly caught by Bradford, and before another run was added Mobray was run out by a brilliant piece of fielding. Leggatt did not stay long, being clean bowled by Dyson. At this time Alexander was bowling exceedingly well and took three wickets in quick succession.

FINE FIELDING

McLaughlin, a candidate for the British Columbia "Colts" rep team, played very confidently for a short time before being bowled by Alexander. The innings closed for 48. The "Colts'" fielding was particularly brilliant throughout the innings.

Disaster overtook the "Colts" early in their innings. The bowling of the "Colts'" team was ably handled by Sharland. The opening batsmen, Poyntz and Sharland, being out with only two runs on the board. Thorne joined Alexander and this partnership put on 66 runs. Thorne played a forcing innings, ably backed up by Alexander. The latter was unfortunately run out on a short call. G. Payne joined Thorne. Despite the excellent fielding of the Cowichan team, both batsmen continued to force the scoring. At 91 Thorne was well caught and bowled by McLaughlin. His innings of 61 included seven 4's. G. Payne continued to score rapidly but when he had scored 55 he was well caught at mid-off. His score included seven 4's. Bradford was shaping well when he fell to Leggatt. The side was all out for 168.

In the second innings Cowichan scored 174, having now a lead of 54 runs. Leggatt, 45; Mobray, 27, and Denny, 22, were the leading scorers.

The "Colts'" second innings was opened by Griffin and G. Payne. With twenty-five minutes to go and 55 runs wanted, the batsmen forced the game. Griffin, with 30, not out, and G. Payne, with 27, enabling the "Colts" to get the runs with three minutes to spare and eight wickets in hand.

HEAT KNOCKED HIM OUT

If you think it only natural to be knocked out by the heat, you are wrong. A person who eats properly will not mind the heat—but, on the contrary, enjoy it. What is the secret? Simply this: Keep your blood normally alkaline. How? By making the bulk of your diet fruits, steamed vegetables, salads, egg yolks, almonds, milk and Roman Meal—the only alkali-forming grain food known.

Roman Meal need not necessarily be eaten hot. It is just as beneficial cold, and each Roman Meal package has recipes for delicious ways to eat it cold. It will keep your blood normally alkaline (nonacid) and your digestive system operating properly. So don't think that you can "eat anything" and enjoy the Summer. Stick to alkali-forming foods—stick to your Roman Meal this Summer.

Write for free booklet, "HOW TO KEEP WELL," and other literature, also sample of Roman Meal and Kofy-Sub, the alkaline beverage, to Robert G. Jackson, M.D., 315 Vine Avenue, Toronto 9, Ontario. (Advt.)

Road Improvement Being Considered

The question of improving David Street, near the Moore & Whittington Lumber Company, so that the firm could haul its lumber from the yard much cheaper than by the longer route used at present, was referred to a select committee of the City Council by the public works committee at its meeting last night.

Cost of improving the road in its entirety would amount to $5,000, it was explained, but to remove a bad grade the cost would be much less. Owing to some misunderstanding as to the company's requirements, no decision was possible at last night's meeting.

Professor Head, the inventor, had been spending a convivial evening with some friends. When he arrived home he found to his horror that it was nearly 3 o'clock in the morning.

His wife heard him enter the house and presently her voice boomed down the stairs.

"What time is it?" she asked.

The inventor trembled.

Suddenly he noticed that the grandfather clock was about to strike the hour of 3.

"Listen, dear," he said, as the clock struck 3. Then he quickly moved the hand to 4 and then to 5. "Just 12!" he added.

"Oh, I thought it was much later," said his wife.

The professor smiled artfully.

Routine Matters Are Discussed by Esquimalt Council

At the meeting of the council of Esquimalt last evening, a request from the football club for an arrangement for a playing ground was referred to the parks committee, which is ready to meet members of the club and investigate the whole situation.

A complaint with regard to a small house being unsightly and unsanitary was combatted by the owner. Reeve Albert Heald and other members of the council felt that at a time like this it was unwise to work any hardship on an owner if it could be avoided. Steps will be taken to see that the house is improved.

A complaint from James Robinson of earwigs being a nuisance in the vicinity of his place was referred to the engineer to try and combat them.

R. G. Humphreys was allowed the opportunity to purchase a strip of six feet of land adjoining his lot. This, it was pointed out, would not injure the municipal property from which it was taken, as there would have to be a resubdivision of lots by the municipality in any event.

Garden Party Held At Rideau Hall Is Gay Social Affair

Their Excellencies Receive Several Thousand Guests at Reception in Honor of Imperial Conference Delegates

OTTAWA, Aug. 1.—The Governor-General and the Countess of Bessborough entertained 3,500 people at a garden party Saturday afternoon in honor of the delegates to the Imperial Economic Conference. A perfect Canadian Summer day favored the event. The steady stream of motors carrying the guests began at 3:30 o'clock, and the last car drove away from Rideau Hall at 7 o'clock.

Owing to the large number of guests, Their Excellencies dispensed with the long receiving line. It would have involved the guests standing for several hours. Instead, the Governor-General and Lady Bessborough stood under a canopy at one end of the lawn, and groups of the delegates chatted informally from time to time with their host and hostess. Her Excellency was a smart and charming figure in her gown of powder blue printed organdie with a huge velvet bow.

The bands of the Governor-General's Foot Guards and of the Ottawa Cameron Highlanders played alternately during the afternoon. Rideau Hall grounds are more than usually beautiful at this season, the lovely beds of garden blooms, flanked with borders of tall, graceful delphinium, phlox and other varieties of midsummer flowers.

PRETTY GOWNS

Mrs. Stanley Baldwin was charming in grey silk lace over satin of the same shade. Her hat was beige crinoline with ostrich feather tips of beige and pink.

Mrs. J. H. Thomas was dressed in black Nottingham lace with a black hat trimmed with white camellias. Viscountess Hailsham was a distinguished figure in a flowered chiffon frock of rose and pink with a large pink straw hat, trimmed with rosebuds. With this pretty costume she wore a two-skin fox fur neckpiece in beige and silver. Mrs. Walter Runciman wore a simply designed gown of grey georgette, with a grey hat. Lady Clark, wife of the British High Commissioner, wore a smart black georgette coat over a figured crepe dress of black and red, and a black straw hat.

Lady Newton, wife of Sir Douglas Newton, agricultural adviser to the British delegation, was gowned in brown lace, with a wide brown hat. Mrs. C. Lemaistre, adviser to the British delegation, wore a becoming gown of printed georgette in red and brown, with touches of lace, and a wide-brimmed red straw hat.

SMART CHIFFONS

Mrs. Stanley Bruce was an outstanding figure in a gown of grey chiffon with pink and black flowers, and black hat with touches of pink. Mrs. H. S. Gullett, wife of Rt. Hon. H. S. Gullett, Minister of State for Trade and Customs in Australia, wore a becoming frock of brown chiffon over brown crepe and a large coarse-straw hat in the same tone. Mrs. J. G. Coates, wife of the leader of the New Zealand delegates, chose a blue georgette gown, a blue hat with touches of pink. Miss Mary Downie Stewart was graceful in a beige lace dress, a short coat banded in fox, and a matching hat. Mrs. N. C. Havenga, wife of the Minister of Finance for South Africa, was admired in beige lace, with a large straw hat with touches of green.

Mrs. F. C. Alderdice, wife of the Prime Minister of Newfoundland, wore a striking frock of heaven blue georgette, a black hat trimmed with velvet of the same shade, and a handsome stonemarten fur. Lady Perley, wife of Rt. Hon. Sir George Perley, was charming in a pale grey georgette crepe with a black hat.

Mrs. W. D. Herridge, wife of the Canadian Minister to the United States, wore a becoming costume composed of a brief green jacket over a yellow dress, and a large yellow hat. Mrs. Arsene Henry, wife of the French Minister, was in grey chiffon with pink roses.

Mrs. Arthur Meighen was in green chiffon and lace with a small cape effect, and wore a black lace hat. Miss Lillian Meighen was in pale pink and black flowered chiffon, with a large black hat.

MINISTER ENTERTAINS

A very delightful week-end tea was given by Hon. Robert Weir, Minister of Agriculture, and Mrs. Weir, in the attractive Quebec suite of the Chateau Laurier. More than 100 guests were present, and were welcomed by their host and hostess, the latter wearing a pretty costume of black figured chiffon with a black hat to match. Mrs. Murray Maclaren, Mrs. W. A. Gordon, Miss Freda Fripp and Mrs. M. Hazlewood, of Oshawa, Ont., presided at the tea table, which was lovely with Summer flowers.

A number of informal dances were given over the week-end in honor of the visitors.

Prior to the garden party on Saturday, Hon. W. D. Herridge, Canadian Minister to Washington, and Mrs. Herridge, gave a small luncheon at their home for a number of the delegates, and also entertained at luncheon today.

Outing Held On Island Is Jolly Affair

The brilliant sunshine of Saturday made excellent conditions for the annual picnic held by the Confederation Life Association. Nearly thirty representatives with their wives and children left the Oak Bay boathouse at 2:15 by launch for Chatham Island, where a most enjoyable day was spent. Mr. P. Lewin, manager of the Vancouver Island branch, was general convener.

An interesting ceremony was performed, when Mr. R. H. Melville, of Toronto, superintendent of the Western division of the association, duly crowned Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Mottershead "King and Queen" for the day, Mr. Mottershead having obtained the largest number of applications for life insurance during the month of June.

A good programme of sports was run off under the direction of Captain H. W. N. Moorhouse. The softball game resulted in the superintendent's team defeating the manager's nine by a score of 16-12. Swimming was a popular feature. Supper arrangements were in charge of Miss Doris Hassall, Mrs. H. W. N. Moorhouse, Mrs. H. Forster and Mrs. Mottershead and served picnic style on the ground. A huge bonfire and community singing brought the day's events to a close. The party returned by launch shortly after 9 p.m.

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. H. Mottershead, Captain and Mrs. H. W. N. Moorhouse, Mr. and Mrs. H. Forster, Mr. and Mrs. B. Reeves, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Sherwood, Mr. and Mrs. Reeves, Jr., Mrs. G. Baker, Mr. R. Ceceri, Misses Shirley Maynard, Doris Hassall, Kathleen Tadman, Messrs. Fred Lewin, R. H. Melville (Toronto), J. Clark, and David Denbigh.

Delicious Jelly Made From Raspberries

Housewives who are wisely planning their jam cupboards now must include raspberry jam and jelly. With every indication that prices of food will rise in the Autumn, the 1932 Summer sees more jam and jelly making than ever before. Good home managers are taking advantage of the abundance of luscious fruit on the market and making up, at low cost, dozens of jars of the finest jams and jellies. Most cooks who realize the danger in spoiling a great deal of fruit by old cooking methods have turned to the short boil or the newer, perfectly sure way of making jam and jelly.

RASPBERRY JELLY

Raspberry jelly used to be the most critical of all jellies to make. Now, even the most inexperienced cook can make a delightful, tender jelly by the following recipe:

Four cups (2 lbs.) juice, seven and one-half cups (3 1-4 lbs.) sugar, one bottle liquid pectin. Crush thoroughly or grind about three quarts (3 lbs.) fully ripe berries. Place in jelly cloth or bag and squeeze out juice. Measure sugar and juice into large saucepan and mix. Bring to a boil over hottest fire and at once add liquid pectin, stirring constantly. Then bring to a full, rolling boil and boil hard half a minute. Remove from fire, skim, pour quickly. Seal hot jelly at once with a thin layer of paraffin wax. When glasses are cold, add a second coating of paraffin wax. Roll glass to spread paraffin on sides. Makes about eleven eight-ounce jars.

RASPBERRY JAM

Four cups (2 lbs.) prepared fruit, six and one-half cups (2 3-4 lbs.) sugar, half a bottle liquid pectin. Crush or grind about two quarts (2 lbs.) fully ripe berries. Measure sugar and prepared fruit into large kettle, mix well, and bring to a full, rolling boil over hottest fire. Stir constantly before and while boiling. Boil hard one minute. Remove from fire and stir in liquid pectin. Then stir and skim by turns for just five minutes to cool slightly to prevent floating fruit. Pour quickly. Seal hot jam at once with a thin layer of paraffin. This recipe makes ten eight-ounce jars.

SPEAKER WARNS YOUTH OF TODAY

Life Is Too Easy, Says J. F. Bledsoe, in Address to Gyro Club Here

In a straight from the shoulder talk, typical of the pioneer whose memory goes back to the hardships of the pack trials of the Rockies and the swirling rapids of the mighty Fraser, uncharted and seething with hidden dangers, J. F. Bledsoe, former publisher and one of British Columbia's early settlers, told the members of the Victoria Gyro Club yesterday what was the matter with the young man of today.

Mr. Bledsoe said the main trouble of the younger generation was that they had things made too easy for them. "They have lost their backbone through not having to fight their way in life, but he warned them to hesitate and take stock of themselves before it was too late. "Remember," he said, "what happened in Rome. It would be well if some of you could read 'The Rise and Fall of the Roman Empire.' In some respects one could take whole chapters from those volumes and fit them into the things as they are today. It is all very well for you to take things easy; but there is trouble ahead and many will not be prepared."

DANGERS AHEAD

Mr. Bledsoe cautioned the young men of the need for a general survey of the whole atmosphere surrounding their civilization and to break away from the customs with which they have been surrounded and come out into the open and help rebuild the crumbling structure, which, if it should fall, would engulf the whole world.

The speaker was not criticizing the present generation for lack of vision or ambition, but he considered there was too much haste in doing the things that had to be done. "It would not do them any harm sometimes to become just a little bit lazy. It might give them time to think." He also mentioned that the younger generation would be better to experience a few of the hard knocks of life. This, he said, would make them stand on their own feet and be able to fight against reverses that sometimes come later in life.

Mr. Bledsoe was introduced to the club members by John Clay, president of the Gyro Club.

Just Roamin' Around

By TWO ROVERS

"Master!" said Rover, just as I was entering into that most delicious state of being known as "about to take a nap," it being an afternoon following some strenuous roamin' around. I was considerably riled at his nonsensical interruption.

So I replied, somewhat testily, "What now, for the land's sake?"

"Is it true that life is full of little ironies."

"Partially true, Rover!" said I, drowsily. "But, thank goodness, there are many compensations; for, otherwise, there would be nothing but worries, ironies and much cussedness of things, which would be too trying, to say the least of it.

"As a matter of fact, Rover, there are really more compensations for life's bally idiosyncrasies and upsetting peculiarities than there are things that do not compensate, or sate! Of course, I may be wrong; but an elderly rover, who has traveled a lot and had a long jolt of keen experience spread over more than half a century, can be said to have some faint idea of life's ironical worries and life's multitudinous compensating arrangements!"

FISH AND CHIPS AND——

Take fish and chips, for instance! Take it home with you, if you haven't time to eat plaice at the place they prepare it! Take it with the accompanying and proper condiments, salt and pepper, tomato sauce, a dab of butter and a slog of bread; then wash it all down with tea or coffee, or, if your wife will let you, a tankard of nut-brown ale, and, though you have all the woes and worries in this wicked world, this good old English dish, with its plural because fish and chips are two different things, but, singular, in that when cooked and served in the right and traditional manner, they are one, then will you learn what we mean by a compensating satiety, and be thankful you are full of fish and chips as most assuredly you should be full of thanks!

Another compensating thought is this: In spite of the depression, which is soon about to become old-fashioned and out of date, this sphere of existence, worries or no worries, is not so badly arranged as the gloomy pessimists would aver. If we had to live in the sea all the time we would soon be fed up with fish, and were we entirely confined to the land, we'd soon become fed up with chips to the right, chips to the left of us, and round about us.

AS IT IS—IS BEST!

So, it is only one of life's many compensations that we don't live in the sea, nor yet entirely on the land; but, we do live near the sea, and on a pavemented area called a city, where we may, when worries and woes assail us, find compensation, if we know the right place to find broiled plaice and chips, bilmee! and the cup that cheers or the coffee that stimulates, or, if our wives will let us, a further compensation in a mug of nut-brown ale. What Ho!

To paraphrase the age-old ditty: "When we are married we'll have fish and chips for tea, fish and chips for tea, fish and chips for tea." But we don't expect to enter that blissful state of being in this round of existence, for we are afraid that if we had to share such a matrimonial diet too often, we might become, as we have heard others have become—fed up'

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

HOW DOES YOUR YOUNGSTER STAND OR SIT?

In Great Britain the orthopedic surgeons and children's specialists believe that there is some fault in the system—food, air, exercise, heridity that causes children to have bone defects, or defects in the way they stand or sit, giving them a poor posture or shape of body.

In America, the specialists believe that it is the poor posture or position standing or sitting that causes the illness and lack of proper growth and shape of body.

We admit that nothing is more important to a nation than the proper growth and development of its children—the future men and women.

In the White House Conference on Child Health it was felt that the relation of body mechanics or posture (the way the child stands or sits) should be investigated. A committee of which Dr. Robert B. Osgood, Boston, was chairman, has made a most interesting and helpful report.

The committee found positive evidence that two-thirds of the children of the United States have faulty body mechanics—do not stand or sit properly.

Can poor posture be corrected?

The report shows that where "systematic" attempts have been made in the schools to improve faulty body mechanics, it was always associated with improvement in health and efficiency.

I am a great believer in group games for children; they strengthen heart and lungs, teach a youngster to take his knocks, teach him also to be unselfish as he must work for the good of the team and not himself; teach him to control his temper and train him in many other ways.

However, there is no question in my mind but that if a youngster is taught to stand and sit correctly, to walk with his head up, his eyes straight ahead, shoulders back, abdomen drawn in, that in addition to improvement in condition of all his body organs—heart, lungs, stomach, liver intestine—there is bound to be an improvement in his morale or courage, his general outlook of life.

Send your youngster to a school or club gymnasium to take the regular body building and "straightening up" class work.

Further, see that your youngster sits well back in his chair, shoulders back, not drooped, and that he stands and walks in the erect position.

TORONTO, Aug. 1.—Dr. Andrew S. Moorhead, one of the city's leading surgeons, died here Saturday after a short illness. He was born in Mount Albert Ont., fifty-six years ago, and as a Fellow of the Royal College of Surgeons, he was with the Canadian Army Medical Corps during the war.

CHAPTER XXVIII

"Our last little gathering, I am afraid," Mrs. Willett was saying.

"What's that?" Ronnie Garfield looked up suddenly.

"Yes." Mrs. Willett shook her head with a would-be smile. "We have got to forego the rest of the Winter in Sittaford. Personally, of course, I love it—the snow and the tors and the wildness of it all. But the domestic problem is too difficult—it defeats me!"

"I thought you were going to get a chauffeur-butler and a handy man," said Major Burnaby.

A sudden shiver shook Mrs. Willett's frame.

"No," she said, "I—I have had to give up the idea."

"Dear, dear," said Mr. Rycroft. "This is a great blow to us all. Very sad indeed. We will sink back into our little rut after you have gone. When do you go, by the way?"

"On Monday, I expect," said Mrs. Willett. "Unless I can get away tomorrow. It's so very awkward with no servants. Of course, I must arrange things with Mr. Kirkwood. I took the house for four months."

"You are going to London?" inquired Mr. Rycroft.

"Yes, probably, to start with anyway. Then I expect we shall go abroad to the Riviera."

"A great loss," said Mr. Rycroft bowing gallantly.

Mrs. Willett gave a queer aimless little titter.

"Too kind of you, Mr. Rycroft. Well, shall we have tea?"

Tea was laid ready. Mrs. Willett poured out. Ronnie and Brian handed things. A queer kind of embarrassment lay over the party.

"What about you?" said Burnaby abruptly to Brian Pearson. "You off too?"

"To London, yes. Naturally I shan't go abroad till this business is over."

"This business?"

"I mean until my brother is cleared of this ridiculous charge."

He flung the words at them defiantly in such a challenging manner that nobody knew quite what to say. Major Burnaby relieved the situation.

"Never have believed he did it. Not for a moment," he said.

"None of us think so," said Violet, flinging him a grateful glance.

The tinkle of a bell broke the ensuing pause.

"That's Mr. Duke," said Mrs. Willett. "Let him in, Brian."

Young Pearson had gone to the window.

"It's not Duke," he said. "It's that damned journalist."

"Oh! dear," said Mrs. Willett. "Well, I suppose we must let him in all the same."

Brian nodded and reappeared in a few minutes with Charles Enderby.

Enderby entered with his usual ingenious air of beaming satisfaction. The idea that he might not be welcome did not seem to occur to him.

"Hullo, Mrs. Willett. How are you? Thought I'd just drop in and see how things were. I wondered where everyone in Sittaford had got to. Now, I see."

"Have some tea, Mr. Enderby?"

"Awfully kind of you. I will. I see Emily isn't here. I suppose she's with your aunt, Mr. Garfield."

"Not that I know of," said Ronnie staring. "I thought she's gone to Exhampton."

"Ah! but she's back from there. How do I know? A little bird told me. The Curtis bird, to be accurate. Saw the car pass the postoffice and go up the lane and came back empty. She is not in No. 5 and she's not in Sittaford House. Puzzle—where is she? Failing Miss Percehouse, she must be slipping tea with that determined lady killer, Captain Wyatt."

"She may have gone up Sittaford Beacon to see the sunset," suggested Mr. Rycroft.

"Don't think so," said Burnaby. "Should have seen her pass. I've been in the garden for the last hour."

"Well, I don't think it's a very vital problem," said Charles. "I mean I don't think she's been kidnapped or murdered or anything."

"That's a pity from the point of view of your paper, isn't it?" sneered Brian.

"Even for copy, I wouldn't sacrifice Emily," said Charles. "Emily," he added thoughtfully, "is unique."

"Very charming," said Mr. Rycroft. "Very charming. We are—er—collaborators, she and I?"

"Has everyone finished?" said Mrs. Willett. "What about some bridge?"

"Er—one moment," said Mr. Rycroft.

He cleared his throat importantly. Everyone looked at him.

"Mrs. Willett, I am, as you know, deeply interested in psychic phenomena. A week ago today, in this very room, we had an amazing, indeed an awe inspiring experience."

There was a faint sound from Violet Willett. He turned to her.

"I know my dear Miss Willett, I know. The experience upset you, it was upsetting. I do not deny it. Now, ever since the crime the police force have been seeking the murderer of Captain Trevelyan. They have made an arrest. But some of us, at least, in this room, do not believe that Mr. James Pearson is the guilty party. What I propose is this, that we repeat the experiment of last Friday, though approaching it this time in a rather different spirit."

"No," cried Violet.

"Oh! I say," said Ronnie. "That's a bit too thick. I'm not going to join in anyway."

Mr. Rycroft took no notice of him.

"Mrs. Willett, what do you say?"

"Frankly, Mr. Rycroft, I do not like it at all. That miserable business last week made a most disagreeable impression on me. It will take me a long time to forget it."

"What are you getting at exactly?" asked Enderby interestedly. "Do you propose that the spirits should tell us the name of Captain Trevelyan's murderer? That seems a pretty tall order."

"It was a pretty tall order, as you call it, when last week a message came through saying that Captain Trevelyan was dead."

"That's true," agreed Enderby. "But—well—you know this idea of yours might have consequences you haven't considered."

"Such as?"

"Supposing a name was mentioned? Could you be sure that someone present did no deliberately—"

He paused and Ronnie Garfield tendered the word.

"Shove. That's what he means. Supposing somebody goes and shoves."

"This is a serious experiment, sir," said Mr. Rycroft warmly. "Nobody would do such a thing."

"I don't know," said Ronnie dubiously. "I wouldn't put it past them. I don't mean myself. I swear I wouldn't, but supposing everyone turns on me and says I have. Jolly awkward, you know."

"Mrs. Willett, I am in earnest," the little old gentleman disregarded Ronnie. "I beg of you, let us make the experiment."

She wavered.

"I don't like it. I really don't. I—" She looked round her uneasily, as though for a way of escape. "Major Burnaby, you were Captain Trevelyan's friend. What do you say?"

The major's eyes met those of Mr. Rycroft. This, he understood was the contingency which the latter had foreshadowed.

"Why not?" he said gruffly.

It had all the decision of a casting vote.

Ronnie went into the adjoining room and brought the small table which had been used before. He set it in the middle of the floor and chairs were drawn round it. No one spoke. The experiment was clearly not popular.

"That is correct, I think," said Mr. Rycroft. "We are about to repeat the experiment of last Friday under precisely similar conditions."

"Not precisely similar," objected Mrs. Willett. "Mr. Duke is missing."

"True," said Mr. Rycroft. "A pity he is not here. A great pity. Well—er—we must consider him as replaced by Mr. Pearson."

"Don't take part in it, Brian. I beg of you. Please don't," cried Violet.

"What does it matter. It's all nonsense anyway."

"That is quite the wrong spirit," said Mr. Rycroft severely.

Brian Pearson did not reply but took his place beside Violet.

"Mr. Enderby," began Mr. Rycroft, but Charles interrupted him.

"I was not in on this. I'm a journalist and you mistrust me. I'll take notes in shorthand of any phenomena—that's the word isn't it?—that occurs."

Matters were settled like that. The other six took their places round the table. Charles turned off the lights and sat down on the fender.

"One minute," he said. "What's the time?" He peered at his wrist watch in the firelight.

"That's odd," he said.

"What's odd?"

"It's just twenty-five minutes past five . . ."

Violet uttered a little cry.

Mr. Rycroft said severely:

"Silence."

The minutes passed. A very different atmospere this to the one a week ago. There was no muffled laughter, no whispered comments—only silence, broken at last by a slight crack from the table.

Mr. Rycroft's voice rose.

"Is there anyone there?"

Another faint crack—somehow an eerie sound in that darkened room.

"Is there anyone there?"

Not a crack this time but a deafening tremendous rap.

Violet screamed and Mrs. Willett gave a cry.

Brain Pearson's voice rose reassuringly.

"It's all right. That's a knock at the front door. I'll go and open it."

He strode from the room.

Still nobody spoke.

Suddenly the door flew open, the lights were switched on.

In the doorway stood Inspector Narracott. Behind him were Emily Trefusis and Mr. Duke.

Narracott took a step into the room and spoke.

"John Burnaby, I charge you with the murder of Joseph Trevelyan on Friday the 14th instant, and I hereby warn you that anything you may say will be taken down and may be used in evidence."

Nora Devlin With Famous Maestro Making Progress

Many Victorians confident of the fine pianistic talent of Miss Nora Devlin, who spent her girlhood here, will be interested in the progress which she is making under the tuition of Arthur de Greef, of Brussels, with whom she has been studying for the past two years. Arthur de Greef has an enviable reputation in the continental world of music, and a recent critic has made the comment that "in the realm of music there is no virtuoso of the clavier who has succeeded so highly in engendering the great musical fame of Belgium. To our belief the important part played by Arthur de Greef is equal to that played by the great Eugene Ysaye or Cesar Thomson in the realm of violin."

Arthur de Greef has for many years enjoyed an international reputation. He was born at Louvain in 1862 and studied at the Brussels Conservatory, thence to Weimar to study with Franz Liszt. In 1888 he began giving recitals which brought him fame and honor throughout Europe. It was in the company of the celebrated violinist, Joachim, that he became known to the British music public at St. James Hall, London. Beginning in 1885 the Brussels Conservatory gave de Greef one of its piano classes, and he has been one of the leading teachers there for many years.

Miss Devlin began her studies with de Greef in October, 1930, and has made such remarkable progress that she is to give a recital in Brussels before she starts back to Victoria in the Autumn of this year, concertizing in Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg, Vancouver and Victoria.

VANCOUVER FIRE ATTRACTS CROWD

VANCOUVER, Aug. 1. — More than 2,000 persons, attracted by dense clouds of smoke, saw fire sweep a building at 689 Hamilton Street, owned by J. Davies, general contractor, Saturday night. Loss was not estimated.

Firemen were informed that several valuable police dogs, housed at the rear of the building, perished.

What Today Means

"LEO"

If August 2 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 11:15 a.m. to 1 p.m., from 4:30 p.m. to 6 p.m. and from 10 p.m. to 11:30 p.m. The danger periods are from 8:30 a.m. to 9:35 a.m. and from 2 p.m. to 4:30 p.m.

The stars point towards an unexpected event on August 2, something which will prove that the worst blows seem to fall where they are least expected. It will probably be of a personal nature, and something about which the world at large will never know. No lasting harm can come to you, unless you take the blow "lying down." A little stuffing will go a long way on this occasion.

The children born on this August 2 will have fighting, not compromising natures, and will get the things they want in life, or know the reason why. They will be amenable to kindly influence, susceptible to flattery, and at heart very affectionate. They will be ambitious, and will strive to raise themselves above the ordinary ranks of life.

Born on August 2, you are a solid, ordinary sort of person, capable of standing up to the world and doing your job. You are not a drone, and usually do more than your share. If you be a man, you will not mind keeping your nose to the grindstone, if by so doing you can do properly by your dear ones. Your hardest efforts all through life will be for others, and you will pocket few of the plums which come your way without sharing them with another.

You are very human and at all times your own natural self. It disgusts you to see others "put on airs," and you have no desire to ape their silly ways. You have plenty of pride, however, but it is not "false pride." It is not in you to "double cross" anyone although you will be "let down" many times in your life by those whom you have loved or trusted. You should fight against becoming bitter, and cling to those whom have been found "tried and true."

Your life will be somewhat chequered and wandering through the unkindness of Fate, not from choice. You dislike being uprooted, and become very fond of your own particular ruts. You are cultured, courteous, big-hearted and loyal.

LONDON STREET MADE TO ORDER FOR FILMS

Many of the scenes in British Paramount's comedy of London's fashionable social life, "Reserved for Ladies," which comes to the Empire Theatre on Friday, this week, with Leslie Howard in the featured role, are laid in the shopping district of the British capital.

As traffic conditions made it impossible to get street shots with the action desired, an outdoor street was built in the studio in imitation of one of London's luxury shopping centres and a constant stream of traffic was simulated to produce the desired effect. London's familiar red General Omnibuses were there, taxis, delivery vans and trade bicycles, all true to type, made the set noisy with the tooting of horns.

TWO LIVES LOST IN WHATCOM ACCIDENTS

BELLINGHAM, Wash., Aug. 1 (AP). — Automobile accidents took a toll of two lives in Whatcom County yesterday. The dead are Harry T. Ruley, prominent Skagit country farmer, a director of the Skagit Bank, at Mount Vernon, and Hilary O'Toole, twenty-five, Bellingham electrician.

Ruley was fatally injured when his car, returning from Mount Baker, struck the bridge railing at Acme.

O'Toole was killed almost instantly when his car left the road at Agata Bay, Lake Whatcom, and crashed into a stump.

NIGHT WORLD IS VIVID OFFERING

Capitol Film Filled With a Swift Succession of Exciting Incidents —Ayres Is Star

One of the most colorful screen dramas of the current season was revealed to local theatregoers yesterday, when Universal's "Night World" opened an engagement of three days at the Capitol Theatre.

The picture stars Lew Ayres, and presents this popular young man in a characterization of an entirely new type. He handles the role like the capable actor he is. No role in his career has demanded a greater measure of forceful acting ability.

Not the least remarkable feature of this fast-moving screen play is the fact that the entire action of the story is laid within a gay night club, a gigantic setting which is a marvel of motion picture craftsmanship. The story covers the events of a single night, and it is a night filled with a swift succession of exciting incidents.

Mae Clarke, in the principal feminine role opposite Ayres, leads the chorus of dancing beauties in the floor show, and her friendliness arouses the interest of the despondent Lew.

PLAYHOUSE THEATRE Only two days remain in which to see Howard Hughes' brilliant and sensational production, "The Age for Love," at the Playhouse Theatre. The capacity crowds which have attended this picture are proof of its amazing entertainment features. It discloses a new Billie Dove, showing the great beauty of the screen in the most superb performance of her career. It introduces a new and dynamic leading man, Charles Starrett. And it presents Edward Everett Horton, Lois Wilson and Mary Duncan in their greatest film roles.

COLUMBIA THEATRE John Barrymore and Lionel Barrymore make their first screen appearance together in "Arsene Lupin," colorful French mystery drama, which is now showing at the Columbia Theatre. The picture, based on the Paris stage success by Maurice Le Blanc and Francis de Croisset, depicts the entertaining career of a debonair master thief who is trailed by an implacable detective through the gay salons of Paris with interesting details of the Apache underworld thrown in for good measure. John Barrymore plays the thief and his brother, Lionel, the detective.

ROMANO THEATRE "I never thought I would have to strike a woman," Conrad Nagel told Genevieve Tobin following the making of the "knockout" scene in Universal's "Free Love," now at the Romano Theatre. The script called for Miss Tobin to nag her husband until he was beside himself and then when his temper was at the bursting point, add injury by slapping him smartly across the face, whereupon he responds with a blow that ends the argument abruptly.

DOMINION THEATRE Sympathetic comedy has a field day in "Make Me a Star," which is now showing at the Dominion Theatre. For not only is the story built up on the kind of laughs that have heart-pangs tucked under them, but two of the four leading comedians in the cast, Stuart Erwin and Zasu Pitts, are famous as exponents of the art of Pagliacci-like suasion of audiences. Miss Pitts has been in a number of short comedies with Thelma Todd recently. She was also in "Seed," "Penrod and Sam" and Paramount's famous post-war romance-drama, "Broken Lullaby" with Lionel Barrymore, Nancy Carroll and Phillips Holmes.

CULBERTSON on CONTRACT

By Ely Culbertson

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

REACTING TO PARTNER'S BIDS

"When partner has just passed a forcing bid on a hand in which five-odd was a lay-down, one is inclined to be reckless," writes Dr. E. S. Russell, of New Haven, Conn., in submitting the hand pictured below, and explaining his opening bid, as the South player, of three no trump. The good doctor then takes a slam at some writers for newspapers by adding that "at any rate, it is as safe as some of the absurd bids appearing in current newspaper columns." Perhaps Dr. Russell is right. In all events, luck was extremely kind in the way she had distributed the cards adversely held, so that instead of being defeated, the doctor made the hand.

South—Dealer.
East and West vulnerable.

The Bidding:

(Figure after bid in table refers to numbered explanatory paragraph.)

South	West	North	East
3NT (1)	Pass	Pass	Pass

1. This bid has already been explained by its maker.

The opening lead was a small club, which East won with the ace, and returned the suit. Things looked pretty black, as it was apparent that there were probably three good club tricks against the hand, with no established suit in either the closed or dummy hands upon which to force discards. End-plays were out of the question. Therefore, making the best of a bad matter, Dr. Russell laid down the ace of diamonds, and East played the knave. The law of symmetry and the doubleton queen-knave of hearts in the dummy suggested the possibility that East's hand might hold the queen-knave of diamonds alone. Anyway, there was nothing to be lost by trying, so the king of diamonds was led, and East played the queen. Two more rounds of diamonds were then taken in the dummy, and East was forced to find two discards. The first discard was the heart two; the second, the spade six. The discard of the spade made the impossibility of taking all the tricks in that suit a possibility. The ace-king of spades were played, and all the honors dropped. Two more rounds of spades were then cashed, and the queen of hearts led from the dummy and covered by the king in East's hand, South winning with the ace. The knave of hearts accounted for the twelfth trick, and the last trick was conceded to West.

The declarer thus made five-odd, a handsome present from the Goddess of Luck.

TODAY'S POINTER

Hands in which the declarer is fortunate enough to find every card placed exactly where he wants it are rare indeed. However, in the dealing of the cards at the bridge table, the law of symmetry aids the careful player in reaching many correct decisions. Usually, hands which contain a singleton king, for instance, in one hand, will disclose a singleton king in another. While the law is not infallible, it is accurate enough for a sound working rule.

TOMORROW'S HAND

The bidding and play of the hand printed below will be discussed tomorrow:

South—Dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

Study the hand, decide how you would bid and play it, and then compare the results you obtain with those shown in tomorrow's article.

Empire Theatre Presents George Arliss, Famous Actor, in Outstanding Film Attraction

George Arliss is coming to the Empire today in his greatest stage successes, "Disraeli," which was produced with great care and under the expert supervision of several noted historians. It is a picture of dramatic power, and has been listed as one of the finest products of the talking screen.

The story deals with one of the most exciting and melodramatic episodes of Disraeli's career. This great statesman had the eyes of the world on him when he succeeded in acquiring the Suez Canal for England. And it is around this particular bit of political sagacity that the story of the picture "Disraeli" is woven.

On the same programme will be the famous comedy pair, Ralph Lynn and Tom Walls, in the most successful English comedy that has ever come to Victoria, "Rookery Nook." Tom Walls has recently achieved fame for being the only actor to have trained a Derby winner with "April the Fifth," which surprised the racing world and sweepstakes followers in June at Epsom Downs.

Both "Disraeli" and "Rookery Nook," will be shown only for one day.

A man struck a match to see if the petrol tank was empty. It was not!

A man patted a strange bulldog on the head to see if it was affectionate. It wasn't.

A man speeded up to see if he could beat the train at the level crossing. He couldn't!

A man undertook to pass two speeding cars on the highway. He didn't!

Personal Contact Is Necessary to Obtain Markets in Far East

Canada's Minister to Tokio Points Out That Legation Can Only Pave Way for Trade—Praises Efforts of Government

"Canadians are the only people who can sell Canadian goods to advantage in the Orient; and unless the growers of wheat and fruits, the millers of flour and the manufacturers of various commodities send the proper representatives to make contacts with the buyers in China and Japan, we cannot hope to do much better than we are doing now," Hon. Herbert Marler, Canadian Minister to Tokio, told representatives of the press aboard the Ss. Empress of Asia on her arrival from the Far East yesterday morning.

"The Legation has done everything possible to pave the way for trade," he continued, "but our organization can only do the missionary work. The actual selling must be done by agents of the producers.

"The Legation has endeavored to impress this fact upon Canadian industrialists, and where representatives of manufacturers in this country have considered it worth while to investigate the markets of China and Japan, very substantial results have been obtained. Take paper, for instance. Three years ago British Columbia was not selling much paper to China. R. Scanlon, of the Powell River Mills, made a personal visit to that country early in 1931, with the result that the firm has since sold more than $1,000,000 worth of British Columbia manufactured paper, which meant that the mill at Powell River ran five days a week instead of three. China imports $5,000,000 worth of common paper and more than $1,000,000 worth of packing paper, besides a considerable amount of other grades, each year, and is a market worth striving for."

H. R. MacMILLAN PRAISED

Mr. Marler paid a tribute to H. R. MacMillan, whom, he stated, deserved a tremendous amount of credit for his efforts in establishing a market for British Columbia lumber in the Orient. There were just as great opportunities for other commodities in the Orient, particularly in China; but it must be gone after, the minister emphasized, and not left to the commission houses in the Coast cities, who had no particular interest in what country the product they offered for sale came from.

The common idea in Canada that because Orient countries are what are commonly termed "price markets" they were not worth bothering about would have to be forgotten if Canada was to expand as a manufacturing nation. He had recommended a commission at different times which, he considered, would do a lot of good by proceeding to the Orient and going exhaustively into all matters of trade between Canada and China and Japan. He hoped to be able to get somewhere with such a commission in the near future.

Mr. Marler cited the growing demand in China for wheat, although the country is now producing something like 600,000,000 bushels annually. In 1922, just ten years ago, the total wheat imported into China amounted to 58,000 tons. In 1931 there were more than 1,500,000 tons of wheat sold to China. In addition, flour to the amount of 4,500,000 piculs (there are fifteen piculs to the short ton) was imported into China. The minister could not state whether the Chinese were forsaking rice for wheat or just what the reason was.

BUYS RAW MATERIAL

Japan buys no flour, but manufactures it for the Chinese market, obtaining the wheat from various countries, but principally in recent months from Australia, the exchange placing the Southern Commonwealth in a preferred position. This situation has gradually righted itself because of a circumstance connected with the handling of grain. All the Australian product has been delivered in sacks, the cost of the sacks plus the wheat amounting to the Canadian price for the wheat alone. As there are plenty of empty sacks now available for filling, Mr. Marler believes that the Australian and Canadian prices will be about equal for unsacked wheat, and that the Canadian product will stand a better chance in that market in the coming year. As a result, the minister expressed the belief that the 1932 situation is more favorable to Canada, and he looks for a larger buying of Canadian wheat after September of this year, as the stocks in China will be low by the beginning of October. During the first four months of this year China has imported 600,000 tons of wheat.

Japan is a great manufacturing country and is a steady buyer of raw materials. She takes wheat, lumber, lead, aluminum and asbestos from Canada, making them into commodities which are marketed principally in China.

MUST CUT COSTS

Mr. Marler also stated that Canadians, if they wished to obtain a worthwhile market in the Orient, must cut the cost of production. He could not understand, in the case of apples, why Okanagan growers had to get from fifty cents to seventy-five cents a box more for their product than the growers in the neighboring state of Washington offered the same article for. There was no chance of Japan removing the embargo on Canadian apples; but there was a big market in China if the price could be made competitive.

Although the depression continued to affect Japan as it was affecting the rest of the world, Mr. Marler stated that the people were continuing to face their problems courageously, and that there was no whining.

With regard to Canada's trade organization in the Orient, the minister was highly eulogistic over the support he was receiving from the Government at Ottawa. It was making every effort to advertise Canada and Canadian products throughout China. He received every assistance from Hon. H. H. Stevens, of whom he stated he could not speak too highly. There was never any questioning or hesitation in connection with the carrying out of the recommendations from Tokio on the part of Canada's Minister of Trade and Commerce. He realized the situation thoroughly, and was doing everything possible to assist the Legation in its work.

Mr. Marler stated his visit to Canada at this time was largely personal, but that there were a number of matters which would be taken up with the Federal Government. He expects to return to Japan about the middle of September. He is accompanied by Mrs. Marler.

France now has 6,450 rail and tram buses.

On her way north to Alaska points, the Alaska Steamship Company's liner Ss. Alaska is expected to dock at Rithet Piers about 3 o'clock this afternoon. The liner has a fair passenger list and will sail for Ketchikan, her first port of call in the North, at 6 o'clock.

Bound south for California ports, the Pacific Steamship Company's liner Ss. H. F. Alexander is due to arrive at Rithet Piers at 6 o'clock tonight from Seattle, and after embarking local and Mainland passengers going south, is scheduled to sail for San Francisco at 10 o'clock.

On her regular Tuesday excursion from Seattle, the Ss. Indianapolis, of the Black Ball Ferries fleet, will dock here shortly after 1 o'clock this afternoon. The Indianapolis is making the excursion run today via Port Townsend.

On another all-day excursion trip to Vancouver, the Ss. Princess Patricia is due to leave the Belleville Street docks of Canadian Pacific Steamships at 8:30 o'clock this morning. Artists From China Pass Through City On Way to Chicago

Cheng Ti-Chen and Shen Hua Ting arrived from the Orient on the Ss. Empress of Asia yesterday morning from Peiping. They are en route to Chicago, where they will be busy for some time painting scenes in buildings, which the Chinese Government is having erected for the Century of Progress Fair to be opened in the Illinois metropolis in 1933.

The visitors are artists of the first rank in their native country, and presented a colorful touch garbed in long grey and blue smocks aboard the liner. They left the ship here and proceeded to Seattle, where they will board the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul & Pacific's Olympia special. Neither of the painters can speak English and were looked after here by local representatives of the railway, and were to be met by agents of the road on their arrival at Seattle.

Ontario gold production continues to increase.

TOUR PARTY HERE TODAY

Pennsylvania Farmers on Way North to Alaska—Other Tours Coming

Among the passengers aboard the Ss. Alaska, which will call here for several hours this afternoon on her way North, will be a party of Pennsylvania farmers numbering seventy-five, according to an announcement made yesterday afternoon by A. C. Stickley, local agent of the Northern Pacific Railway.

The farmers are touring under the auspices of the Pennsylvania Farmers' Tour and will make the round trip on the Alaska. The party traveled West over Northern Pacific lines and will return East over the Canadian Pacific Railway, visiting points of interest in the Rockies. C. L. White, editor of The Pennsylvania Farmers' Magazine, Pittsburgh, is in charge of the party, which is also accompanied by Frank W. Stuart, of the Northern Pacific passenger department, Pittsburgh.

GOOD PUBLICITY

Mr. Stickley also stated that on Thursday of this week there will be a party of fifty newspaper men and their wives from Michigan and Minnesota in the city for several hours. This is known as the Michigan-Minnesota Newspaper Tour. They will arrive at 12:45 o'clock and leave at 5:30 o'clock. They are making the round trip over the Northern Pacific, and will be accompanied by H. V. Wilmot, special representative of the Northern Pacific Railway at St. Paul. This tour gave Victoria considerable publicity, Mr. Stickley pointed out, as the itinerary was published in the papers of the two states with pictures of the most important points to be visited. A number of pictures of Victoria and vicinity were forwarded by the local office of the railway for this purpose.

ANOTHER EXCURSION

Another excursion to reach Victoria this month over the Northern Pacific is the American agriculturists' party from New York State. After their visit to Victoria the party, numbering fifty, will proceed to Vancouver and embark on the Ss. Prince Robert for the Northern trip. Returning from Skagway the party will leave the Robert at Prince Rupert and proceed east to New York over Canadian National lines, visiting Jasper Park en route. This party is accompanied by V. L. DeBell, district passenger agent of the Northern Pacific at New York.

Several thousand children took part in the national schools' sports on Education Day in Cork, Irish Free State, this year.

Doug McLaren's Hit In 9th Sends Green Mill Down to Defeat

Tillicums Spring Another Surprise by 4-3 Victory —Harry Down Pulls Off Sensational Catch in Last Inning to Stop Mill Rally

Green Mill	7	5	.583
Elks	7	7	.500
Tillicums	4	10	.286

Next game, tomorrow — Elks vs. Green Mill.

A sizzling double to deep left field, scoring Harry Down from second with nobody out in the ninth inning, by Doug McLaren, gave Tillicums another surprise victory in the Senior Amateur Baseball League last night over the Green Mill by a 4-3 score. Although McLaren's extra base hit was the deciding factor of the game, the highlight of the battle was Manager Down's running catch of Brousseau's high fly between centre and left, in the first of the ninth, with two men on bases, for the third out. It was the best catch pulled off this season, and Tillicums' pilot received a fine ovation as he trotted into the dugout.

Green Mill's defeat puts them two full games behind the league-leading Sons of Canada nine. Tommy Musgrave, seventeen-year-old pitching ace, went the distance for the Tillicums, and turned in a steady performance. He fanned five and issued one free trip to first; while Bill Holness, who opposed him, struck out four and gave the same number of walks.

TAKES LEAD

Tillicums took the lead by driving in three runs in the fourth, on two hits. Green Mill came back in the fifth and scored twice on errors. A double by Stickney and single by Bennison gave the cafemen the tying run in the seventh.

In the ninth, Green Mill threatened. Bridgewood started with a single. He stole second and went to third when Taylor tossed Dunc out at first. Stickney singled and stole second with Bridgewood still occupying third. Steele flied to Moore, and then Brousseau was sent in to pinch hit for Bennison. He drove a long fly between centre and left, which Harry Down raced over and speared.

Down walked in the Tillicums' half of the last frame, and reached second on a balk by Holness. McLaren then ended the battle with a scorching double to left, scoring Down from second with the winning run with nobody out.

EXPLANATION FOR SUNDAY'S RIPLEY CARTOON

The Mystery of the Rolling Ball—A granite monument on the Miller lot in the cemetery at Memphis, Michigan, consisting of a base on which rests a 2,800-pound ball, has caused much conjecture since it was erected over twenty-four years ago. Unaided by human agency the ball has slipped a quarter of the way around in a rolling—not a revolving—motion. A flat rough spot on the side of the ball indicates the spot on which it rested originally.

Among the suggested causes of the phenomenon are gravitation, the heat of the sun moving over the surface of the ball, and the processes of thawing and freezing, but no definite and satisfactory solution has been vouchsafed so far.

DOMINION MAT STARS FARE BADLY

Toronto Grappler Only Canadian to Survive First Round Battle

By ELMER DULMAGE
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 1.—Wrestlers from across the seas bowled over Canada's matmen like ninepins today as grapplers from twenty-five countries started after titles at the tenth Olympic Games here. Only Danny McDonald, of Toronto, Dominion welterweight champion, was able to survive his first-round battle.

Rated the best hope of Canada in wrestling, McDonald got away to a flying start tonight by pinning Yoshio Kohno, of Japan, in 4 minutes 58 seconds. The Canuck was the aggressor from the start, and never gave his stockier but shorter foe a chance.

ONE HIGHLIGHT

But McDonald's showing was the only highlight of an otherwise dismal Canadian showing. In turn Jimmy Trifinuv, Regina bantamweight; Howard Thomas, Montreal lightweight; Herb Rowland, Montreal featherweight; Don Stockton, Montreal middleweight, and Harry Madison, light heavyweight, were thrown out of competition for Olympic championships. Thomas was the only one not thrown and he was decisively outpointed over the fifteen-minute route by Gustaff Klaren, of Sweden.

Trifinuv, wiry little veteran from Saskatchewan, who took third place in his division at the Amsterdam games, lasted less than a minute with Georges Zervinis, of Greece. Zervinis threw Trifinuv in forty-one seconds.

Rowland was almost as easy for Herman Pihlajamaki, of Finland, who dumped the Canadian in one minute fifty-four seconds.

Stockton was pinned by Sumiyuki Kotani, of Japan, in three minutes nineteen seconds, and Madison lasted only two minutes twenty-six seconds with Eddie Scarf, of Australia.

ROLLING FALL LOSS

Madison, taller and stronger than Scarf, seemed to have things all his own way when suddenly he lost a hold and found himself victim of a rolling fall, allowed under Olympic rules. The crowd was almost as stunned as the Montrealer.

McDonald became one of the favorites to win the welterweight title with his impressive win tonight, and several other Canadians are still considered capable of making improved showings when competition starts to decide winners of places below second.

Howie Thomas, Montreal, was eliminated in the lightweight division, losing the decision in a second-round bout to Pihlajamaki, of Finland.

Jimmy Trifinuv, Regina bantamweight, was the first of the Canadian wrestlers to be eliminated in Olympic competition. Trifinuv was thrown in the second round of the trials by Joskari, of Finland.

Vancouver Boy Wins Running High Jump At Olympic Sports

Duncan McNaughton Clears Bar at 6 Ft. 5 5-8 Ins. to Bring Honor to Canada—Polish Runner Cops 10,000-Metre Event

By ELMER DULMAGE
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

LOS ANGELES, AUG. 1.—Twenty-four hours before Canada was supposed to have a look-in at the international Olympic meet, Duncan McNaughton, of Vancouver, yesterday cut loose with a spectacular high jump performance to whip the favored Americans and take the high jump title away from the United States for the first time in thirty-six years.

The tall, slender Canadian, never able to do better than 6 feet 4 1-2 inches before, defeated a field of twenty with a final jump of 6 feet 5 5-8 inches that gave him victory over Robert Von Osdel, of the United States, who had battled McNaughton for the title for nearly an hour.

The two, along with Cornelius Johnson, of the United States, and Simeon Toribio, of the Philippine Islands, had left the field behind when they cleared 6 feet 6, but none could get over 6 feet 7. In the Jump-off process, Johnson and Toribio were eliminated and McNaughton mastered Von Osdel in a final duel. George Spitz, the vaunted New Yorker, failed to do better than 6 feet 3 inches.

NEW CHAMPIONS

Championships decided yesterday in men's track and field were:

High jump—Won by Duncan McNaughton, Vancouver, Canada.

10,000 metre run—Won by Janusz Kusocinski, Poland.

Shot put—Won by Leo Sexton, United States.

The one women's event yesterday was:

Javelin throw—Won by Mildred Didrikson, United States.

Sharing Sunday's honors with McNaughton on the championship throne was Janusz Kusocinski, smooth striding Polish runner, who helped the Canadian smash tradition by winning the 10,000 metres trek in Olympic record time of 30:11.4.

Without the peerless Paavo Nurmi, the Finns were forced to trail the Pole, finishing second and third.

The series of spectacular exhibitions in various contests was climaxed with a world record javelin throw by Mildred "Babe" Didrikson, the United States feminine track and field ace, who topped the former mark by more than 11 feet with her first toss, measuring 143 feet 4 inches.

Leo Sexton, giant weight star, sent American hopes for a perfect day soaring by winning the first final of the day—the sixteen-pound shot put. Twice he smashed the Olympic record, the final mark of 52 feet 6 3-16 inches giving him the title.

One dispute marked the day's proceedings. It occurred in the 800 metres trials won by Eddie Genung, United States champion. French officials protested their star, Paul Keller, had met with interference on the part of Phil Edwards, the Hamiltonian, who carried the Maple Leaf into second place. The protest was ruled out.

Retains Honors at Olympic Games

DR. PAT O'CALLAGHAN
of Ireland, who retained his Olympic Games hammer-throwing championship yesterday at Los Angeles by tossing the sixteen-pound hammer a distance of 176 ft. 11¾ ins. O'Callaghan was the class of the field and showed the same skill and power as he did in 1928 a: Amsterdam.

BOROTRA'S WIN GIVES FRANCE CUP

Veteran Net Player Defeats Wilmer Allison to Cinch Championship

PARIS, Aug. 1.—France won the prized Davis Cup yesterday the sixth consecutive time, defeating the United States by a final score of three matches to two in the challenge round, and the country rang today with acclaim for Jean Borotra, the thirty-four-year-old "Bounding Basque," who made the victory possible.

Borotra sealed the tricolor's triumph by defeating Wilmer Allison, 1-6, 3-6, 6-4, 6-2, 7-5, in the first of yesterday's final singles matches.

Twelve thousand spectators saw the veteran, apparently beaten in the final set, rally magnificently to win over the rangy Texan. The cup hung by a thread when Allison led 5-3 in games in the deciding set and was 40-love on his own service. Six times the American had match point, but six times Borotra, with flaming spirit, brought off shots that saved the match and in the end saved the trophy for France.

As an anticlimax, Ellsworth Vines, Jr., United States champion, scored a spectacular five-set victory over Henri Cochet in the finest tennis of the series.

GREAT RALLY

It was the old tennis master against the new, and Vines, after losing the first two sets, one of them at love, roused himself to an unbeatable pitch in the last three. The scores: 4-6, 0-6, 7-5, 8-6, 6-2.

But all honor for the French victory went to Borotra, once the peerless "Bounding Basque," but now "Vieux Reynard" ("Old Fox"), who lured and destroyed two victims and almost single-handed held the cup.

The frenzied crowd at Roland Garros Stadium went wild as Borotra literally staggered off the court at the finish of his match with Allison, wherein everything exciting that could happen in a tennis battle occurred with the most dramatic effect.

STORM OF PROTEST

PARIS, Aug. 1 (AP).—While a storm of disparaging comment filled the sports pages, the beaten United States Davis Cup forces lauded the play of the victorious French today and prepared to forget all about the international tennis competition until 1933.

"The 1932 Davis Cup matches are over," said Bernon Prentice, non-playing captain of the United States team. "We lost to a great French team and three splendid sportsmen. Jean Borotra, the veteran campaigner, was supreme.

"We return home knowing we have a Wilmer Allison and John Van Ryn, the greatest doubles team in the game today, and we're proud of Ellsworth Vines' splendid victory over Henri Cochet. Borotra pulled out a great match with Allison and played well enough to win.

"I believe the stage is set now for an American victory in 1933."

French sporting pages were not so lenient, however, and a storm of comment was aroused by several decisions of the linesmen giving Borotra points which the French critics thought should have gone to Allison, and which would have given the Americans the odd match needed to lift the cup.

BRADMAN HITS OUT CENTURY

Famous Australian Batsman Scores 116, Not Out, in Match at Regina

REGINA, Aug. 1.—Just as expected, Don Bradman and Arthur Mailey put on a cricket show here today that completely eclipsed anything a selected Regina team could do and marked up a comfortable victory by five wickets and 117 runs. Seventeen Regina batsmen were all out for 123 runs, while the Australians knocked up 240 for five wickets.

Batting cautiously against the local bowling, Bradman made 116, not out, to give Reginans some idea as to why it is he is the premier batsman in the world of cricket today.

But the real fireworks of the afternoon were provided by two Regina youngsters, Maurice Grant and Don Leighton. Grant almost stole the show from the Australians when he carried his bat for seventeen, including two sixes and a four. Leighton had two fours and one six in his short but sweet stay at the wicket.

H. Prusoff Wins Fifth Straight Net Championship

SEATTLE, Aug. 1.—Five Northwest tennis championships in five weeks! That's Henry Prusoff's record for tournament play this season, and maybe that doesn't show how much the twenty-one-year-old Seattle youth has improved inside of a year! Yesterday he measured John Murio, San Francisco Hawaiian, who was defending his Washington State title at the Seattle Tennis Club, 6-1, 6-3, 3-6, 6-1.

"Camera Clock" Showed Tolan Won by Two Inches

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 1 (AP).—The electric-photographic "camera clock" shows Eddie Tolan gained the decision over Ralph Metcalfe for the Olympic 100-metre championship by two inches, Gustavus T. Kirby, American member of the board of judges, told the Associated Press tonight. All the judges agreed their official decision was sustained by the motion pictures, Kirby said.

The "camera clock," Kirby added, registered Tolan's time as 10.38 seconds, as compared with the official "hand time" of 10.3 seconds, which equaled the world record.

"The pictures showed Tolan got his chest into the tape first, but the margin was not over two inches," Kirby explained. The movies also confirmed the rest of the placing. Still camera shots of the 100-metre final, although taken at an angle, clearly indicated Metcalfe was going away from Tolan after they hit the tape.

B.C. ELEVEN TO OPPOSE AUSTRALIANS NAMED

Three Victorians Chosen on Eleven For Fixture Here

F. Sparks, R. Wenman and G. Wilkinson Given Places on Squad for Match at University School Aug. 17—Former Pair to Play on Mainland —B.C. Colts XI Chosen for Aug. 16 Game

Three Victorians, two Cowichan and six Vancouver players were chosen by the executive of the British Columbia Cricket Association, at a meeting held over the week-end to represent the province in the fixture against the touring Australia eleven at the University School, Mount Tolmie, August 17. The executive also selected the British Columbia colts team, which will be skippered by Kippax, Australian captain, to play against the squad from "down under," on the same grounds on August 16.

Two local stars and one from Cowichan were named to play on the British Columbia representative eleven against the Aussies in Vancouver, on August 13. F. Sparks and Reg. Wenman were the local players named, and E. C. Ball was chosen from the ranks of the Up-Island eleven. Sparks was selected as vice-captain.

Great interest has been aroused over the return matches at the University School with the famous team from Australia. Since leaving here several weeks ago, the visitors have played in Vancouver, Winnipeg, Toronto, Montreal, Chicago, New York, Philadelphia and several other important Eastern cities. The matches here will be their last before they head for home.

With hopes of making a good showing against their experienced opponents, the British Columbia colts squad are busy training for the match. Kippax will bat against his teammates and will direct the colts' play throughout.

It will be interesting to see what Kippax will do against his own side. Thirteen Victorians and six Vancouver youngsters will comprise the squad along with Kippax.

Canadian Press Staff Writer.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 1.—Leo Marchiori, of Vancouver, Canadian cyclist, raced into the second round of the 1,000 metres scratch event in the giant Rose Bowl here tonight after two battles in which he neared elimination. Italians set a new Olympic record and lapped the Canadians in winning the heat in 4:42 9-10, but four Canadians, Lew Rush and Glen Robbins, Victoria; Russell Hunt, Toronto, and Frank Elliott, Vancouver, turned in a good time of 5:10 2-5, just a second slower than the former record.

JOHNNY RISKO WINS VERDICT

"Rubber Man" Given Decision Over Tuffy Griffith in Bruising Battle

CLEVELAND, Aug. 1 (AP).—Johnny Risko, Cleveland heavyweight, won a twelve-round decision from Tuffy Griffith, of Chicago, tonight before 7,000 spectators in the Municipal Stadium.

Risko, the "rubber man," carried the fight to the former Sioux City, Iowa, boy in the early rounds, and so dazed Griffith he had diddficulty finding his corner during the intermissions.

Despite the apparent advantage Risko, whom Griffith had defeated in three previous encounters, thus enjoyed, Griffith fought the Cleveland heavyweight on fairly even terms. It was not until the final three rounds that Risko piled up his winning advantage.

Risko centred much of his attack on Griffith's body, Tuffy retaliating with a facial attack. As early as the second round the heat of Risko's body attack commenced to tell, Griffith starting for a neutral corner at the bell.

There were no knockdowns but Griffith in the fourth sent a hard right to Risko's jaw that twirled the rubber man around.

Doctor Dick's Letter Box

TIM MATSON

Dear Doctor,—

Ever since our little son, Gainsborough (at the age of four), used to draw things on the tablecloth with his fingers and the jam, my husband and self were enraptured on realizing that there, right in Gainsborough, was the embryonic soul of Art. Accordingly we have spent thousands on developing his inborn talent, and although Gainsborough is coming along "nicely"—well, some of his creations—well, frinstance, his "Moose at Bay" (on canvas) has just a touch of packing-case about it, and his "Seagulls, Pendant" may have just a shade too much helicopter about them, and his "Sunflowers, Pensive" I suppose have just a soupcon too much waffle about them to be really outstanding.

Mind you, Doctor, we're not worried about Gainsborough failing to succeed in the long run, but it's expensive work and we would like to know, exactly, how long it will take to bring his Art to, or even a little beyond, the acme of perfection. Please reply.

Yours, with great confidence,
MR. AND MRS. JOSH. RENOLDES.

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Josh. Renoldes,—

I can't quite see how Gainsborough can be held back any longer. I'm not really an artist myself, but I must say that one or two "little things" that I've done at home are not necessarily to be despised. For example, my "Nude Nymphs, in Clover," in which the clover successfully hides all the nymphs, is at least a modest little conception—and my "Mice, Jubilant," in which only a voluptuous but aristocratic cheese is visible, has a wealth of unsuspected action, and quite an "air" of its own.

Thus, as a—well, I can hardly say "fellow artist"—tenny rate as a fellow dabbler, I feel that I can prophesy that for Gainsborough it's merely a case of "it won't be long now." Gainsborough has the definite modernistic touch, and in view of the fact that my eldest nephew recently collected a thousand odd pounds for his "Godiva, Go Diving," which I later discovered was nothing more than a very good tracing of the Theorem of Pythagoras, without the A, B, C, D's, etc—well, please tell me, what's to prevent Gainsborough buying a compass, then drawing a couple of nice circles, and then submitting them to the critics as Tinkers, in an Ale House," and dragging in the odd ten thousand?

In the meantime, spend all the money you have on him, and on the day he suddenly produces a "Ploughboy, in Rhapsodies" that cannot possibly be mistaken for anything but a bag of sawdust—well, then, dear parents, you will know that your labors have been rewarded and that Gainsborough is about to be immortalised. Thank you, sir and madame.

Yours with the fidgets,
D.D.

BRITISH TRAINS TO SPEED UP

"The fastest train service ever offered" is to be started by the Great Western Railway of Great Britain. Outstanding features of the new service include the running of twelve main line expresses daily, covering 1,176 miles in 1,150 minutes at "start to stop" speeds of 60.1 to 69.18 miles an hour, and the biggest acceleration of service ever made, totaling in the aggregate 6,553 minutes daily. The company now claims to operate the world's fastest train and the greatest number of expresses daily running at "start to stop" speeds exceeding fifty-five miles an hour. The new service will be, in the aggregate, 10,633 minutes quicker daily than a year ago

NEW SERVICE INAUGURATED

First Commercial Flight of Coast Air Transport Completed Yesterday

Victoria's newest air service was inaugurated under happy auspices yesterday morning at 11 o'clock, when promptly at that hour the Boeing flying boat, owned and operated by Captain "Ted" Dobbin and A. T. Richardson, who will alternate at the controls of the machine on its daily flights, took off for Seattle with all seats occupied. Pilot Richardson made the inaugural passenger hop.

Captain Dobbin and Pilot Richardson have been flying for a number of years, the former since 1917, when he was a pilot in France, and the latter since 1920. The new air service will be known as the Coast Air Transport, the initial letters of which spell "Cat," the name by which Captain Dobbin's old air unit, the 83rd Fighting Squadron, was known during latter war years.

To start with, the service will operate one round trip each day, taking off from Esquimalt Harbor at 11 o'clock and reaching Seattle at 11:50 o'clock. On the return trip the Boeing flying boat will leave the Puget Sound city at 1 o'clock in the afternoon, and will arrive at Esquimalt at 1:50 o'clock. Temporary landing premises have been secured at the float immediately behind the Esquimalt Hotel. The Gray Line is agent for the new service here and at Seattle. All information concerning the service can be obtained at the local office, Yates Street.

FLYERS OBJECT TO TALL TREES

Only Complaint Against Air Field by Participants in Pageant

There is a possibility that the air pageant that was held in connection with the opening of the Gordon Head Airport may be repeated on or about Labor Day, September 5. This information was given yesterday to the directors of the Chamber of Commerce by P. E. George for the junior chamber, which took charge of the event on July 3. He explained that the one obstacle in the way was the presence of certain tall timber in surrounding parts of the area. These had been objected to by the flyers who took part. In other respects the situation was described as being all right.

Alderman Straith said that Ottawa had given a licence for all purposes to the field. The trees were not objected to. He pointed out that owing to the direction of the wind on the day of the pageant the ordinary course had to be changed. Thanks to the help of Oak Bay and Saanich the emergency runway had proved its use.

J. O. Cameron said that he had inspected the trees. Those that were likely to give trouble were all trees that had reached their maturity and would be better cut up into wood.

Mr. George reported that a balance of $47 had been left after paying all expenses.

Inner Harbor Proves Safe for Aircraft

In reporting on the trip made to Seattle on Saturday through the courtesy of the Canadian Air Transport Company, G. H. Stevens informed the directors of the Chamber of Commerce that it was evident that it was perfectly easy to effect a landing and to make a take-off in the Inner Harbor here. He thought that steps should be taken to try to secure facilities for this and to have shipping companies relieved from liabilities now imposed.

The local party which made the inaugural trip included R. H. B. Ker, president of the Chamber of Commerce; George I. Warren, secretary; J. H. Beatty, M.P.P., and himself. They were entertained at a luncheon at which Mayor John F. Dore of Seattle and Senator Conner were present.

U.S. YACHT WINS OPENING RACE

Conewago Captures First Event for Canada Cup After Thrilling Duel

ROCHESTER, N.Y., Aug. 1 (AP).—The American yacht Conewago captured the first race of the Canada's Cup series on Lake Ontario here today after trailing the Canadian challenger Invader II for more than half of the contest. Soon after the third lap started Skipper Wilmot V. Castle overhauled the Canadian racer and sped across the finish line 35 seconds ahead of the challenger.

The brilliant finish marked a dramatic climax to a colorful yachting contest witnessed by thousands who lined the shore of Lake Ontario and darted about in scores of small craft bordering the race course.

The course was from a point 1,000 yards from the port of Rochester pier straight out into the lake, four and one-half miles and return. The yachts were required to cover the route twice.

The second race of the series will start tomorrow at 11 a.m. and will be run over a triangular course.

The Canada's Cup has been in possession of the Rochester Yacht Club since 1903. To recapture the Canada's Cup the challenger must win three races.

Automobiles in the world now total more than 35,000,000.

RACING MOTOR CRAFT ENCOUNTERED ROUGH WEATHER ON SUNDAY

SEATTLE, Aug. 1 (AP).—Only four out of ten boats which started in the Victoria-Seattle yacht race yesterday for the Hathaway Cup, completed the voyage, rough water forcing some of the others out of the running.

Beth, owned by Dr. O. A. Tucker, Seattle, won first place, arriving at 6:56 o'clock last evening, only four minutes off the time set for the finish, 7 o'clock.

Nirvana, belonging to Frank A. Graham, Tacoma, was second, checking in at 7:06. Mary Mar-Ann, Frank Seidelhuber, Seattle, was third, arriving at 6:53, and Cecelia Joan, Henry T. Jones, Seattle, was fourth, checking in at 7:17.

INDIAN RIVER ALWAYS TRICKY

Pilot From Bengal Will Visit Okanagan — Recalled Matterhorn Wreck

J. S. Davis, Bengal pilot on the Hooghly River, came back to this North Pacific Coast yesterday after an absence of twenty-three years and under sharply different circumstances from those surrounding his former visit to these waters in 1909. Yesterday he arrived here on the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Asia as a passenger.

On his first tour of these Pacific waters he was an officer aboard the four-masted bark Matterhorn, which was thrown on her beam ends during a gale off Cape Flattery in December, 1909. For a week members of the crew hung to their windbeaten craft, unable to cut away the masts because they would have ripped through the decks, but determined to save her if they could. Finally, Captain Davis recalls, they put off in small boats, seeing the situation was hopeless, and were picked up by a light tender.

On an eight-months' furlough from pilotage duties in the tricky Calcutta waters, where even British men-o'-war use pilots to solve the baffling mystery of shifting sand bars, Captain and Mrs. Davis are leaving shortly for the Okanagan district to join relatives.

Bengal pilots, Captain Davis said, form a unique band of seamen. One of the meanest stretches of navigable water in the world, judgment as to depth and clearance often is a matter of inches, yet passenger liners up to 20,000 tons safely proceed 120 miles up the river.

VOYAGING ENDED WHEN BOAT SANK

Yacht of Norwegian Journalist Wrecked on Island at Entrance to Auckland Harbor

The Norwegian yacht Teddy, after sailing unscathed for 17,000 miles, has become a total wreck on an island outside the entrance to Auckland Harbor while on the first lap of her return voyage to Norway. Erling Tambs, her owner, started out from Norway with his new-made bride as sole crew nearly four years ago.

Their first long stay was made at the Canary Islands, where a son, Antonio, was born. Tony started his sea career six weeks later when the yacht left for the West Indies, to continue her voyage through the Panama Canal and down to Tahiti and the South Sea Islands. Auckland was reached in January, 1931, a stay of fourteen months being made in that port. During this time a daughter was added to the family. Before adopting the career of a sea rover the Teddy was a well-known Norwegian pilot boat, her builder being Colin Archer, who designed Dr. Nansen's Polar ship Fram.

In spite of her bluff bow and heavy rigging, the seven-ton Teddy had a surprising turn of speed, and in a 1,200-mile ocean race from Auckland to Sydney against two crack sailing yachts last Summer she proved an easy winner. Erling Tambs is a Norwegian journalist. In addition to losing all the family possessions which went down with the little ship, Mr. Tambs also lost the manuscript of the book he was writing about his adventures, also a collection of photographs. The family were all saved.

Stock Prices at New York Mart Still Advancing

NEW YORK, Aug. 1 (AP).—Stocks found profit taking a somewhat more formidable obstacle today, but managed to salvage enough of their early afternoon gains to close with a nominal average net gain.

Industrials and utilities steamed merrily ahead during much of the active session, although heavy realizing in rails went on under cover of the rally and the inability of carriers to throw off their reactionary tendencies eventually led to late selling elsewhere. Extreme gains of 1 to 4 points were sharply reduced in some instances to fractions, while a number of rails lost a point or more on the day. Sales totaled 2,106,806 shares.

Oils revived for a time following declaration of New Jersey Standard's usual extra dividend of 25c and a regular 25c payment of the Indiana Company. American Telephone pushed up 4 1-2 points to 94 1-2 in active trading, which presented a handsome profit from the July 70's, and enough realizing appeared to reduce the net gain to 1 1-2. United States Steel preferred all but lost a 2-point advance, while the common, after selling at 30 3-8, fell back to 29 1-2, up 5-8.

American Tobacco "B" 4-point jump was cut in half, while Auburn converted a rise of 4 1-2 into a loss of similar size. Westinghouse, Woolworth, Eastman, National Dairy, National Biscuit and Consolidated Gas saved a point or thereabouts of their maximum appreciation. Union Pacific and Santa Fe reacted a couple of points net.

The bond market, after a month of daily gains showed an inclination to slow down moderately, although prices held comparatively steady.

The firmness of German government obligations reflected optimism on the Reich.

The United States government section was unusually inactive, only a few fractional changes being recorded.

While some of the railroads were slightly off, a number firmed mildly. Among these latter were some of Santa Fe, Baltimore & Ohio, Southern Pacific and Southern. Union Pacific first and land grant 4's equalled their 1932 high of 94 1-4.

Loans of American Telephone were in demand as were some of those of International Telephone Consolidated Gas and Columbia Gas obligations improved.

There was a little profit taking in the oils, although most of them gave ground reluctantly. U.S. Rubber 5's advanced, as did Goodrich 6 1-2's, but Goodyear 5's were a trifle easier.

CONVERSION OF BONDS SUCCESS

Noted Economist Outlines Benefits From Conversion of British War Loans

LONDON, Aug. 1.—Success of the conversion of $10,000,000,000 in 5 per cent War Loan to a lower interest rate, now seems assured, Sir Josiah Stamp said yesterday in an address broadcast to Canada and the United States. The terms of "which have created a feeling everywhere that to convert one's war loans voluntarily and not ask for one's money back is the only thing that a Britisher who wishes this country well can possibly do."

He said that only 4 per cent of the investors, representing 2 per cent of the loan, asked repayment.

Speaking of results, Sir Josiah said:

RESULTS EXPECTED

"What consequences do we expect?

"First, $100,000,000 direct saving in taxation and a redirection of spending power. Also, further saving as other Government loans are converted.

"Second, a reduction in taxation with its stimulus to enterprise.

"Third, a great fillip to business.

"Fourth, renewed sane borrowing at lower rates, and, so far as borrowing proceeds from abroad, encouragement to curb export trade.

"Fifth, an exhibition to many governments abroad that good Government credit is worth working for.

STILL IMPORTANT CENTRE

"If the new converted loan can change the interest fashion in London, London is still highly important in the financial world and can help to change the rate for the world."

Addressing particularly the United States, he asked: "How can we act together, without losing confidence in each other as nations, to re-establish international credit, to make the world's supply of gold effective, to raise international prices and by raising prices in countries with large money debts to pay and sufficient produce to pay them if prices are not too low, once more lift from them the shadow of bankruptcy and stop a general stampede to the desperate refuge of repudiation?" That is our problem—novel, perplexing in theory, still more in practice!

ANSWER TO SUNDAY'S PUZZLE

There had been a somewhat heated argument in the club cardroom, and when the battle was over one of the younger members present sought advice from an old member wise in the ways of cards and card players.

"Question is, sir, if one is playing against opponents weaker than oneself in knowledge of the game, should one point out errors or should one remain silent?"

"As a younger man," said the old player, "I used to try to be helpful, but now I thank heaven silently, keep my face straight and take their money."

Burgess Bedtime Stories

When Too Much Was Only Enough

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

Who by his appetite is ruled
You'll seldom find in wisdom schooled.

Grandfather Frog the Bullfrog is nothing if not a glutton. You know a glutton is one who eats too much and does it knowingly. Grandfather Frog always has been a glutton and probably always will be. When food is to be easily had the only time he stops trying to swallow more is when he is so full that no more can go down that big throat of his. Even then he isn't satisfied, but wants more. He may be wise in some matters, but in eating he lacks wisdom. Yes, sir, he lacks wisdom.

Just now Grandfather Frog was a sight to behold. He was sitting on a flat rock the top of which was just below the surface of the Smiling Pool and very near the edge. As he sat there he was mostly out of water. Had you happened along just then I suspect you would not have recognized Grandfather Frog at all, but would have wondered what strange creature you had discovered. You see Grandfather Frog had tried to swallow a fish that was longer than himself, so that even had his stomach been empty he couldn't possibly have swallowed that whole fish all at one time. But his stomach was already full when he caught that fish, which had been hurt by Longlegs the Heron and could hardly swim. This was an opportunity that Grandfather Frog simply couldn't resist, so here he was with its head down his throat, and that was about all. The tail and half the body were still projecting from his mouth.

Now, almost anyone but Grandfather Frog would have decided that enough was enough and more would be too much. They might have hidden that fish for future use, but they certainly wouldn't have tried to swallow it when they knew that they had no room for it. "Never have I seen such greed," muttered Old Mr. Toad in disgust. "I do believe that fish has stuck in his throat and he can neither swallow it nor get rid of it. Serves him right, I say. Serves him right."

Jerry Muskrat came swimming along and when he saw Grandfather Frog he began to grin. "That," said he, "is what I call too much of a good thing. Grandfather Frog, I see you haven't gained wisdom with age. You certainly have too much this time. Shall I pull that fish out for you?"

Of course Grandfather Frog couldn't say a word, but he shook his head in a manner that couldn't be mistaken. He had no intention of giving up that fish. It was his and he meant to keep it even if it was more than he could swallow. He rolled his big goggly eyes and and tried hard to get that fish a little farther down.

"Disgusting!" declared Rattles the Kingfisher.

At this Jerry Muskrat grinned again, remembering how more than once he had seen Rattles himself try to swallow a fish too big to go down.

"This would be a good time for Longlegs the Heron to come along," remarked Jerry Mischievously. "He would get a double meal, Frog and fish at the same time."

"Speaking of Longlegs, that looks like him coming up from the Big River now," said Redwing.

"That," said he, "tis what I call too much of a good thing"

At this Grandfather Frog rolled his goggly eyes frantically and then dived with a splash. With that fish in his way he couldn't do otherwise than splash. Down to the bottom in deep water he swam, still holding on to that fish. Old Mr. Toad also retired, for he had no desire to be seen by Longlegs.

It was some time later when he again saw Grandfather Frog. Just the tip of the tail of the fish was visible and even as Old Mr. Toad watched that disappeared. Grandfather Frog gulped two or three times. "There!" said he. "You thought I had too much, but you see it was only enough," said he.

"Huh!" exclaimed Old Mr. Toad in disgust.

The next story: "Grandfather Frog Becomes Careless."

Reports Success Which Attended Swimming Tests

The Olympic swimming tests at the Crystal Garden exceeded the expectations of the committee, C. P. Hill, chairman of the committee, reported to the directors of the chamber yesterday and showed that the event was a financial success.

Mr. Hill ascribed the success of the gathering to the co-operation which had been shown. There had never been a better example of this than in the case of the swimming contests. As a result there had been sufficient to allow the committee to give a small donation towards assisting Arthur Stott, diver, and Dennis Walker, backstroke swimmer, as spare men to get to the Los Angeles games.

A letter was read from the former of the two expressing their thanks for the aid. The services of George I. Warren and Harold Palmer, in connection with the work was specially referred to by Mr. Hill.

ONE PAYMENT TO BE GIVEN THORNTON

OTTAWA, Aug. 1 (CP).—Sir Henry Thornton will receive one payment on his retirement as president of the Canadian National Railways, instead of a yearly pension, it was announced here Saturday.

It is understood that the board of directors has decided the amount of such payment, but no one here would deny or confirm the report that it was $100,000.
